IELTS General Training Writing Task 2

Length Write at least 250 words.

Time You should spend about 40 minutes on this task.

Writing an essay

Examine the General Training writing about general topics such as health, education, children, whether the person you should be asked who is responsible for the care of the elderly or how families should be brought closer together.

What is expected about essays, you may be asked to agree or disagree or to write a balanced answer, one or two paragraphs about the topic. For example, give the statement that families are not as close as they were in the past, you might be asked to respond to the following question: Why do you think this is and what can be done to bring families closer together again?

Organisation

In IELTS writing is usually composed of 4 or 5 paragraphs.

The first paragraph introduces the subject of your essay and what you are to say about it. The last paragraph summarises your point and restates your main findings about the topic.

The middle or middle paragraphs should answer the main question. You have decided in the task what is the introduction for your introduction and conclusion to support your thinking. If you have answered the task before writing, you will know exactly what to write in these body paragraphs. The following sentence will be useful for

Analysing the essay task

First, you need to read carefully at the writing by understanding key words. Then identify exactly what the questions are asking you to do. For example:

Traditionally, elderly people have lived with and been cared for by younger family members. In modern societies more and more elderly people are living in special homes for the elderly.

Why do you think families choose to have their elderly relatives live in special homes away from family?

What do you think is the best way for modern families to care for their elderly relatives?

This essay has two parts:

1. Explain why modern families send their elderly relatives away to live in special homes.

2. Say whether you think it is better for elderly people to live alone or for younger family members to have to be taken away or whether you have an even better alternative.

If you fail to answer either one of these questions, you will lose your score.

You must use a paragraph to answer each point in the body of your essay. Note that if you have two very good reasons for something, for why families send their elderly away, you could devote a paragraph to each, which would allow you to provide further explanation and support.

High level essays do not simply list possible answers. They make a point of good points and provide reasons and examples to support them.

Here is an example of a point being effectively developed. This is a 1 body paragraph. The right side of the essay is developed by the first Modern families today often do not have the time or energy to care for the elderly at home. In most urban areas, people have demanding jobs and can hardly have time of themselves to spend on their relatives who may live with or near them. In most countries, special residences for the ageing are designed to care for the needs of those who have medical problems, getting older and may also experience a decline and social skills. For the elderly who otherwise might be staying alone at home with their young relatives are of working. That is why a family that their relatives are safe and happy living away in these care centres.

Notice that the paragraph begins with the answer to the question and is followed by further explanation, an example and a concluding sentence.
