How To Do Cornrows On White Hair:

Out of the Mountains Meredith Sue Willis, 2010-07-13 Meredith Sue Willis's Out of the Mountains is a collection of thirteen short stories set in contemporary Appalachia. Firmly grounded in place, the stories voyage out into the conflicting cultural identities that native Appalachians experience as they balance mainstream and mountain identities. Willis's stories explore the complex negotiations between longtime natives of the region and its newcomers and the rifts that develop within families over current issues such as mountaintop removal and homophobia. Always, however, the situations depicted in these stories are explored in the service of a deeper understanding of the people involved and of the place. This is not the mythic version of Appalachia but the Appalachia of the twenty-first century.

Disrupting Anti-Black Racism in Early Childhood Settings Kerry-Ann Escayg, Beverly Jean-Daniel, 2025-09-18 This edited volume draws from a special issue published in the Journal of Curriculum Teaching Learning and Leadership to explore children's perceptions, experiences, and handling of anti-racism approaches in the contexts of teaching, learning, and parenting. Often marginalized and overlooked in the renewed vigor for racial justice is the lived experience of young Black children, with a critical focus on the unique ways anti-Black racism theorizing can shed light on innovative pedagogies and other practices aimed at improving their quality of life and early years experiences. By drawing on a diverse body of theoretical scholarship including anti-racism and critical anti-Black racism, the authors not only bring much needed perspectives on racism in relation to young children's daily lives but also discuss teaching and parenting practices as sites in which young children can ultimately adopt anti-racist beliefs, recognize their agency, and develop as global citizens committed to justice and racial equity. This text, one which builds on and expands the special issue, anchors Black epistemologies, focuses on the unique experiences Black children encounter in their larger social contexts as well as ECE settings, and provides institutional and pedagogical strategies that center and amplify Black humanity and agency. With a balance of conceptual and empirical chapters, the book provides a timely and interdisciplinary theoretical and methodological analysis of children and race. It will appeal to scholars and researchers working in fields across Early Childhood Education and Child Development concerned with issues of Diversity, Equity, and Social Justice.

Women of Color and Hair Bias in the Work Environment Francis, Kula A., Clarke, Anna M., 2023-11-09 Professional women of color identify with various natural Black hairstyles including braids, dreadlocks, twists, and other natural coiled styles. Black women who work in professional settings have historically encountered negative stares, remarks, and biases. They tend to be stereotyped on their level of professionalism and competency if they choose not to conform to mainstream hairstyles. Women wearing Black hairstyles are often perceived as less beautiful and less professional than those who wear Eurocentric hairstyles. Professional Black women are often challenged in these situations where they must decide how to manage their identity in the work environment. Too often, professional Black women apply and interview for positions where their natural hairstyle becomes the topic of interest. If given the opportunity for employment, subtle references may be made about their hairstyles which suggests such hairstyles are not in alignment with the professional climate of an organization. This type of pressure makes Black women feel forced to conform to Eurocentric hairstyles. These expectations lead to feelings of social inadequacy, hurt, and discouragement of individuals in their workplace. The apprehensions with hair acceptance are even more concerning when considering that the notion of straight groomed hair has been largely expected not only by Whites but also by many people of color as well. Women of Color and Hair Bias in the Work Environment explores the experiences of professional women of color who have had encountered feelings of uncertainty, self-consciousness, or differing treatment and/or discrimination because of their natural hairstyle choices. The intent is to shine a light on the challenges professional women of color face and how these experiences impact their hiring and/or work environment. Covering topics such as hairstyle empowerment, ethics of hair bias, and diversity of hair, this book serves as an invaluable resource for educators, social workers, psychologists, organizational leadership, business professionals, and more. This book also allows women to be encouraged by stories of professional women who have overcome the societal burdens placed on natural hair.

Hairvolution Saskia Calliste, Zainab Raghdoo, Kadija Sesay, 2021-11-17. Do you love your natural hair? Some of the world's most inspiring Black women tell us about their attitudes to and struggles with their crowning glory: Kinky, wavy, straight, or curly. This book will help you celebrate your natural beauty, however you choose to style your hair. With an overview of the politics and history of Black hair, the book explores how Black hairstyles have played a part in the fight for social justice and the promotion of Black culture while inspiring us to challenge outdated notions of beauty, gender, and sexuality for young women and girls everywhere. The power is in our hair. And we've come to tell the world what ours can do. Also includes thirty interviews with women of colour about their hair and beauty journey, including Jamelia, Angie LeMar, Dawn Butler MP, Stella Dadzie, Judith Jacobs, Carryl Thomas, Anita Okunde, Kadija Sesay, Anastasia Chikezie, and Chi Onwurah MP.

Permanent Waves Julie A. Willett, 2000-06. Throughout the twentieth century, beauty shops have been places where women could enjoy the company of other women, exchange information, and share secrets. The female equivalent of barbershops, they have been institutions vital to community formation and social change. But while the beauty shop created community, it also reflected the racial segregation that has so profoundly shaped American society. Links between style, race, and identity were so intertwined that for much of the beauty shop's history, Black and white hairdressing industries were largely separate entities with separate concerns. While African American hair care workers embraced the chance to be independent from white control, negotiated the meanings of hair straightening, and joined in larger political struggles that challenged Jim Crow, white female hairdressers were embroiled in struggles over self-definition and opposition to their industry's emphasis on male achievement. Yet despite their differences, Black and white hairdressers shared common stakes as battles were waged over issues of work skill and professionalism unique to women's service work Permanent Waves traces the development of the American beauty shop from its largely separate racial origins through white recognition of the ethnic market to the present day

My Brown Baby Denene Millner, 2020-05-05 From noted parenting expert and New York Times bestselling author Denene Millner comes the definitive book about parenting African American children For over a decade national parenting expert and bestselling author Denene Millner has published thought provoking insightful and wickedly funny commentary about motherhood on her critically acclaimed website MyBrownBaby.com The site hailed a must read by The New York Times speaks to the experiences joys fears and triumphs of African American motherhood After publishing almost 2 000 posts aimed at lifting the voices of parents of color Millner has now curated a collection of the website's most important and insightful essays offering perspectives on issues from birthing while Black to negotiating discipline to preparing children for racism Full of essays that readers of all backgrounds will find provocative My Brown Baby acknowledges that there absolutely are issues that Black parents must deal with that white parents never have to confront if they're not raising brown children This book chronicles these differences with open arms a lot of love and the deep belief that though we may come from separate places and have different backgrounds all parents want the same things for our families and especially for our children
