Posthumanism and the Graphic Novel in Latin America Edward King, Joanna Page, 2017-07-03 Latin America is experiencing a boom in graphic novels that are highly innovative in their conceptual play and their reworking of the medium Inventive artwork and sophisticated scripts have combined to satisfy the demand of a growing readership both at home and abroad Posthumanism and the Graphic Novel in Latin America which is the first book length study of the topic argues that the graphic novel is emerging in Latin America as a uniquely powerful force to explore the nature of twenty first century subjectivity The authors place particular emphasis on the ways in which humans are bound to their non human environment and these ideas are productively drawn out in relation to posthuman thought and experience The book draws together a range of recent graphic novels from Argentina Brazil Chile Mexico and Uruguay many of which experiment with questions of transmediality the representation of urban space modes of perception and cognition and a new form of ethics for a posthuman world Praise for Posthumanism and the Graphic Novel in Latin America well referenced and well considered the analyses it brings are overall well executed and insightful Image and Narrative Jan 2018 vol 18 no 4 Music and Sonic Environments in Video Games Kate Galloway,Elizabeth Hambleton,2024-11-06 Music and Sonic Environments in Video Games brings together a range of perspectives that explore how music and sound in video games interact with virtual and real environments often in innovative and unexpected ways Drawing on a range of game case studies and disciplinary perspectives the contributors consider the sonic environment in games as its own storytelling medium Highlighting how dynamic video game soundscapes respond to players movements engage them in collaborative composition and actively contribute to worldbuilding the chapters discuss topics including genre conventions around soundscape design how sonic environments shape players perceptions how game sound and music model ecological processes and nonhuman relationships and issues of cultural and geographic representation Together the essays in this volume bring game music and sound into the environmental humanities and transform our understanding of sonic environments as an essential part of storytelling in interactive media Engaging a wide variety of game genres and communities of play this book will be of interest to students and scholars of music media studies critical game studies popular culture and sound studies Designed Forests Dan Handel,2024-11-29 Designed Forests A Cultural History explores the unique kinship that exists between forests and spatial design the forest s influence on architectural culture and practice and the potentials and pitfalls of forest thinking for more sustainable and ethical ways of doing architecture today It tackles these subjects by focusing on architecture s own dispositions which stem from an ecology of metaphor that surrounds its encounters with the forest and undergird ideas about Nature and natural systems The book weaves together global narratives and chapters explore a range of topics such as the invention of forest plans in colonial India the war waged on the jungles of Vietnam economic land use concepts in rural Germany precolonial ecological pasts in Manhattan and technologically saturated forests in California This book is essential for landscape architects urbanists architects forestry experts and everyone concerned with larger environmental contexts and the ever evolving relationship between nature and culture Cinema of Exploration James Leo Cahill,Luca Caminati,2020-12-29 Drawing together 18 contributions from leading international scholars this book conceptualizes the history and theory of cinema s century long relationship to modes of exploration in its many forms from colonialist expeditions to decolonial radical cinemas to the perceptual voyage of the senses made possible by the cinematic apparatus This is the first anthology dedicated to analysing cinema s relationship to exploration from a global decolonial and ecological perspective Featuring leading scholars working with pathbreaking interdisciplinary methodologies drawing on insights from science and technology studies postcolonial theory indigenous ways of knowing and film theory and history it theorizes not only cinema's implication in imperial conquest but also its cutting edge role in empirical expansion and experiments in sensual and critical perception. The collected essays consider filmmaking in cross cultural contexts and films made in or about peoples in South America, Asia, Africa, Indigenous North America as well as polar, outer space and underwater exploration with famous figures such as Jacques Yves Cousteau alongside amateur and scientific filmmakers. The essays in this collection are ideal for a broad range of scholars, graduate students and advanced undergraduate students in cinema and media studies, cultural studies and cognate fields.

What Forms Can Do Patrick Crowley, Shirley Ann Jordan, 2020. How does form propose a bridge between the text and the world beyond? This volume investigates the agency of form across a spectrum of twentieth and twenty first century French and Francophone writings renewing the engagement with form that has been a key feature of French cultural production and of analysis in French studies.

Environmental Law and Governance for the Anthropocene Louis Kotzé, 2017-06-15. The era of eco crises signified by the Anthropocene trope is marked by rapidly intensifying levels of complexity and unevenness which collectively present unique regulatory challenges to environmental law and governance. This volume sets out to address the currently under theorised legal and consequent governance challenges presented by the emergence of the Anthropocene as a possible new geological epoch. While the epoch has yet to be formally confirmed, the trope and discourse of the Anthropocene undoubtedly already confront law and governance scholars with a unique challenge concerning the need to question and ultimately re-imagine environmental law and governance interventions in the light of a new socio-ecological situation, the signs of which are increasingly apparent and urgent. This volume does not aspire to offer a univocal response to Anthropocene exigencies and phenomena. Any such attempt is in any case unlikely to do justice to the multiple implications and characteristics of Anthropocene forebodings. What it does is to invite an unrivalled group of leading law and governance scholars to reflect upon the Anthropocene and the implications of its discursive formation in an attempt to trace some initial, often radical, future-facing and imaginative implications for environmental law and governance.

Interspecies Communication Gavin Steingo, 2024-04-09. In Interspecies Communication, ethnomusicologist Gavin Steingo examines several significant cases of attempted communication beyond the human, several cases that is where the dualistic relationship of human to non-human is dramatically challenged. Analyzing scenarios including a small coastal community in South Africa where humans call to whales, a scientific laboratory in the Caribbean where humans tried to speak with dolphins, and a case of black performance art involving human-alien communication, Steingo charts various mechanisms that humans have devised to think about and indeed to reach beings very unlike ourselves. These speculative endeavors look and listen beyond what we are and what we know. The book focuses on the second half of the twentieth century when Enlightenment conceptualizations of human and non-human were increasingly materialized. Following the Second World War, scientists embarked upon the deep exploration of oceans and cosmic space, two realms previously inaccessible to the senses and to empirical investigation. As quintessential final frontiers the outer space of the cosmos and the inner space of oceans were conceptualized as structurally isomorphic twins subject to the same method of scrutiny Interspecies Communication examines the way that globally circulating ideas are taken up by a range of different subject positions including and especially peripheral subject positions in the global South

Plant Poetics, 2025-05-19 Plant Poetics explores the forms and functions of the vegetal across a broad body of literature From Homer to Johann Wolfgang von Goethe and from Jamaica Kincaid to Esther Kinsky the contributions to this volume trace plants in literary works from around the world Based on nuanced theoretical and historical groundwork these readings bring together interdisciplinary perspectives on literary and cultural plant studies The volume shows how vegetal beings have impacted the ways humans think about narrative time genre and writing as a literary practice Plant Poetics illustrates the capacity of plants to make literary worlds and shape their forms

Against New Materialisms Benjamin Boysen, Jesper Lundsryd Rasmussen, 2023-06-15 The first comprehensive scrutiny of the theories associated with new materialisms including speculative realism new materialism Object oriented ontology and actor network theory One of the most influential trends in the humanities and social sciences in the last decades new materialisms embody a critique of modernity and a pledge to regain immediate reality by focusing on the materiality of the world human and nonhuman rather than a post structuralist focus upon texts Against New Materialisms examines the theoretical and practical problems connected with discarding modernity and the human subject from a number of interdisciplinary angles ontology and phenomenology to political theory mythology and ecology With contributions from international scholars including Markus Gabriel Andrew Cole and Dipesh Chakrabarty the essays here challenge the capacity of new materialisms to provide solutions to current international crises whilst also calling into question what the desire for such theories can tell us about the global situation today

Radical Transformation Imants Barušs, 2021-01-28 In Radical Transformation Imants Barušs leads the reader out of the receding materialist paradigm into an emerging post materialist landscape in which new questions present themselves If consciousness has nonlocal properties then how are boundaries between events established If consciousness directly modulates physical manifestation then what is the scope of such modulation If consciousness continues after physical death then how much interference is there from non physical entities As we face the threat of extinction on this planet is there anything in recent consciousness research that can help us Are there effective means of self transformation that can be used to enter persistent transcendent states of consciousness that could resolve existential and global crises The author leads the reader through discussions of meaning radical transformation and subtle activism revealing the unexpected interplay of consciousness and reality along the way

Water and Cognition in Early Modern English Literature Nicholas Helms, Steve Mentz, 2025-10-01 Water and cognition seem unrelated things the one a physical environment and the other an intellectual process The essays in this book show how bringing these two modes together revitalizes our understanding of both Water and especially oceanic spaces have been central to recent trends in the environmental humanities and premodern ecocriticism Cognition including ideas about the extended mind and distributed cognition has also been important in early modern literary and cultural studies over the past few decades This book aims to think water and cognition as distinct critical modes and also to combine them in what we term watery thinking Water and Cognition brings together cognitive science and ecocriticism to ask how the environment influences how humans think and how they think about thinking The collection explores how water as element as environment and as part of our bodies affects the way early modern and contemporary discourses understand cognition

Network Nature Richard Coyne, 2018-04-05 How do people avoid the stresses of the digital age Urban dwellers must now turn to nature to recover restore and rebalance after the stresses brought on by relentless digital connectivity It is easy to task nature as the cure with technology as the ailment In Network Nature Richard Coyne challenges the definitions of both the natural and the artificial that support this time worn narrative of nature s benefits In the process he attacks the counter claim that nature must succumb to the sovereignty of digital data Covering a spectrum of issues and concepts from big data and biohacking to animality numinous spaces and the post digital he draws on the rich field of semiotics as applied to natural systems and human communication to enhance our understanding of place landscape and architecture in a digital world

Diffractional Ethnography Jessica Smartt Gullion, 2018-04-30 Across intellectual disciplines the ontological turn is restructuring how we think about our relationships with the natural world Influenced by the seemingly disparate realms of indigenous philosophy and quantum physics the turn invites us to think about intra actions and assemblages of human and nonhuman entities This raises epistemological questions about how we know about the world and spotlights some of the problems with how we currently do conventional social science research Diffractional Ethnography invites social scientists to consider alternate methodologies that account for the complexity of human behavior situated in larger environmental contexts For both novice and experienced researchers this thought provoking book opens new ways of thinking about methodology and raises questions about the ethical and justice orientations of our work

Handbook of Historical Animal Studies Mieke Roscher, André Krebber, Brett Mizelle, 2021-06-08 The handbook provides a comprehensive evaluation of approaches topics and research areas of the rapidly developing field of Historical Animal Studies The so called animal turn specifically inspired new takes on writing history This upsurge in research has led to immense amounts of new empirical studies as well as approaches to historiography which this handbook aims to systemize
