

Homeostatic PCGAL

Model of the control process involving a sensor, a controller, an actuator and a feedback loop. The model is used to design a control system for a process.

Model of a Negative Feedback Loop

Homeostatic systems maintain a stable internal environment. It is achieved through the control using a negative feedback loop, which is the process that keeps the system at a steady state. It is a control system that uses a feedback loop to maintain a steady state. The feedback loop is a process that takes the output of the system and feeds it back into the input, creating a closed loop. This loop is used to maintain a steady state, which is the desired output of the system.
