Social Causes of Health and Disease William C. Cockerham,2007-10-16 In this exciting new book William Cockerham a leading medical sociologist assesses the evidence that social factors have direct causal effects on health and many diseases He argues that stress poverty unhealthy lifestyles and unpleasant living and work conditions can all be directly associated with illness Noting a new emphasis upon social structure in both theory and multi level research techniques he argues that a paradigm shift is now emerging in 21st century medical sociology which looks beyond individual explanations for health and disease As the old gives way to the new in medical sociology the field is headed toward a fundamentally different orientation William Cockerham s clear and compelling account is at the forefront of these changes This lively and accessible book offers a coherent introduction to social epidemiology as well as challenging aspects of the existing literature It will be indispensable reading for all students and scholars of medical sociology especially those with the courage to confront the possibility that society really does make people sick Sociological Theories of Health and Illness William C Cockerham,2020-07-09

Sociological Theories of Health and Illness reviews the evolution of theory in medical sociology beginning with the field s origins in medicine and extending to its present day standing as a major sociological subdiscipline Sociological theory has an especially important role in the practice of medical sociology because its theories distinguish the subdiscipline from virtually all other scientific fields engaged in the study of health and illness The focus is on contemporary theory because it applies to contemporary conditions however since theory in sociology is often grounded in historical precedents and classical foundations this material is likewise included as it relates to medical sociology today This book focuses on the most commonly used sociological theories in the study of health and illness illustrating their utility in current examples of empirical research on a wide range of topics The qualitative or quantitative research methods applicable to specific theories are also covered Distinctions between macro and micro level levels of analysis and the relevance of the agency structure dichotomy inherent in all theories in sociology are discussed Beginning with classical theory Durkheim Weber and Marx and the neglected founders Gilman Martineau and DuBois along with symbolic interaction Mead Strauss and labeling theory Becker and poststructuralism and postmodernism Foucault coverage is extended to contemporary medical sociology Discussion of the stress process model Pearlin is followed by the social construction of gender and race and intersectionality theory Collins health lifestyle theory Cockerham life course theory Elder fundamental cause theory Link and Phelan and theories of the medical profession Freidson medicalization and biomedicalization Conrad Clarke and social capital Bourdieu Putnam and Lin
