As noted, however, the effect of the 1990s on the growth of the U.S. economy was not as strong as in the 1980s. The growth rate of the economy was 3.3% in the 1990s, compared to 4.0% in the 1980s. This was due to a number of factors, including a decline in the rate of technological innovation, a decline in the rate of capital accumulation, and a decline in the rate of population growth.
