Thomas,2019-12-03 What does it mean to engage in ethical anti racist pastoral care with women with mental illness particularly if these women are residents of an inpatient psychiatric hospital This book draws on interviews with eighteen chaplains in three psychiatric facilities to examine psychiatric chaplaincy with women in the context of a state psychiatric hospital It combines the voices of the chaplains with the disciplines of Christian social ethics and feminist womanist and intercultural pastoral care to create Just Care an approach to pastoral care that accounts for both personal and societal systemic factors in its practice of ministry Just Care proposes that pastoral care that addresses the entirety of the person necessitates a commitment to justice and an attention to cultural dynamics as foundational for ethical pastoral care It argues that psychiatric pastoral care must honor the communal and individual nature of care both the particularity of the caregiver and care seeker as well as intersections of culture gender race and class Activist Pedagogy and Shared Education in Divided Societies ,2022-02-14 Collaborative engagement between activist academics from Israel and Northern Ireland highlighted the challenges and potential of working through education to promote shared learning and shared life in divided societies Following these initial explorations the volume brought together educationalists from Europe the United States and South Africa to widen the range of experience and insights and broaden the base of the conversation The result is this book on the role of shared education not only in deeply divided societies but also in places where minorities face discrimination where migrants face prejudice and barriers or where society fails to deal positively with cultural diversity Together the contributors challenged themselves to develop theoretical and practical paradigms based on practical knowledge and experience to promote activist pedagogies Their shared purpose was to work for more humane just and democratic societies in which education offers genuine hope for sustained transformational change The four main themes around which the book is organized are educating for democratic multicultural citizenship models of shared learning nurturing intercultural competencies and reconciling dialogue in the face of conflicting narratives The book draws on a wide range of international perspectives and insights to identify practical strategies for change in local contexts

Shared Beginnings, Divergent Lives John H. LAUB, Robert J. Sampson, 2009-06-30

This book analyzes newly collected data on crime and social development up to age 70 for 500 men who were remanded to reform school in the 1940s Born in Boston in the late 1920s and early 1930s these men were the subjects of the classic study Unraveling Juvenile Delinquency by Sheldon and Eleanor Glueck 1950 Updating their lives at the close of the twentieth century and connecting their adult experiences to childhood this book is arguably the longest longitudinal study of age crime and the life course to date John Laub and Robert Sampson's long term data combined with in depth interviews defy the conventional wisdom that links individual traits such as poor verbal skills limited self control and difficult temperament to long term trajectories of offending The authors reject the idea of categorizing offenders to reveal etiologies of offending rather they connect variability in behavior to social context They find that men who desisted from crime were rooted in structural routines and had strong social ties to family and community By uniting life history narratives with rigorous data analysis the authors shed new light on long term trajectories of crime and current policies of crime control

The accounts of individuals are quite riveting and the book can be recommended strongly purely for the stories provided about diverse lives However the book is much much more than that in terms of the serious challenge that the authors findings and ideas present to some of the leading contemporary theories of both crime and development A highly original and scholarly contribution of the highest quality Sir Michael Rutter Institute of Psychiatry King's College London

Shared Beginnings Divergent Lives is an extraordinary work which shows the deep insights gained by studying the whole life course beginning in childhood and ending in later life With access to a rare data archive the authors provide compelling evidence on the remarkably varied adult lives of teenage delinquents who grew up in low income areas of Boston born 1925 1935 The story behind these varied life paths and their consequences inspires fresh thinking about crime over the life course through models of life trajectories and vivid narratives that reveal the complexity of lives Glen H Elder Jr University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill This book redraws the landscape of developmental criminology that Laub and Sampson already have done so much to define setting new standards and benchmarks along the way The authors both provide new evidence for earlier conclusions and challenge prevailing assumptions and assertions thereby reshaping the criminological research agenda for years to come John Hagan Northwestern University
