Reading at Greater Depth in Key Stage 2 Suzanne Horton, Louise Beattie, Sharon Lannie, 2018-11-20 The book covers research theory and practical application of developing higher level readers within the primary classroom Art of Constructivist Teaching in the Primary School Nick Selley, 2013-12-19 First Published in 1999 This book arose from a growing awareness of student teachers need for an easy informative and inspiring book about the constructivist approach On hearing that label students tend to react either with Isn't that marvellous the answer to all my problems or Sounds fine in theory but I couldn't do it Both are wrong This book may help to get the balance right Reforming Lessons: Why English Schools Have Improved Since 2010 and How This Was Achieved Nick Gibb, Robert Peal, 2025-08-18 Reforming Lessons provides a first hand account of the ambitious programme of reform that has led to a transformation in English schools since 2010 and seen pupils rise through the ranks of international comparison tests such as PIRLS and PISA Co authored by former Schools Minister Nick Gibb and Headteacher Robert Peal the book explores the key principles behind the reforms and reveals the impact they had on school leadership accountability teaching methods curriculum design and pupil behaviour Addressing the long legacy of progressive approaches to teaching in English schools and the development of evidence led alternatives the book shows that approaches to education such as warm strict teacher led instruction and knowledge rich curriculum have been simultaneously both controversial and hugely successful Chapters cover Reforms to the primary curriculum phonics and mathematical mastery The return of rigour in the secondary curriculum School structures academies and free schools Academic standards Grassroot reforms Changes to teacher training and the introduction of the Early Career Framework Providing a fascinating insight into the major reforms that have shaped England's school system and the drivers behind them this is essential reading for anyone working in the education sector policy makers and those interested in education reform Understanding Assessment David Lambert, David Lines, 2013-04-15 This is the first title in this new series which is aimed principally at secondary PGCE and BAEd students and school and HEI based tutors Each book provides a digest of the central issues around a particular topic or issues grounded in or supported by examples of good practice with suggestions for further reading study and investigation The books are not intended as how to books but rather as books which will help students and teachers to explore and understand critical theoretical issues in ways that are challenging that invite critical reappraisals of taken for granted practices and perceptions and that provide appropriate links between theory and practice Issues related to equal opportunities and special needs are included in each separate volume There are boxes of questions think abouts further reading and bulleted summary lists for the reader This book is written specifically for teachers in training which will clarify the big picture of monitoring and assessment and makes the crucial distinctions in this large and still taken for granted field The authors have written widely on assessment matters and have also worked in various capacities for the QCA and its former manifestations They are also engaged in initial teacher education and so know the level and market extremely well Bringing the English Curriculum to Life David Didau, 2024-04-12 Bringing the English Curriculum to Life builds on David Didau's groundbreaking book Making Meaning in English by showing how the principles of the original book can be applied in schools and classrooms Drawing together experiences of designing teaching supporting and assessing English across the schools within Ormiston Academies Trust OAT this book demonstrates what an ambitious coherently sequenced broad and balanced English curriculum with successful adaption for students with SEND can look like in practice Designed around the explicit teaching of the powerful conceptual knowledge students need to master the discipline the book offers a fully resourced English curriculum packed with teaching suggestions and examples of high quality practice Covering intent implementation and assessment and outlining in detail what is included in each module for KS3 and 4 the curriculum can be adopted in its entirety but is also flexible enough for departments to take modules and slot them into their own curriculum Providing an inspiring model for teaching English that enables all students to succeed this is an essential resource for all English teachers and school leaders responsible for curriculum development The Newly Qualified Secondary Teacher's Handbook Kevan Bleach, 2013-12-16 Written to coincide with the introduction of Induction Standards for new entrants to the teaching profession this text aims to help to smooth the transition from theory and supervised teaching to independent reflexive practice It provides a combination of explanation challenge practical activities and authentic case studies The author acknowledges the importance of professional development during the induction year and advocates the gradual implementation and reinforcement of effective strategies for good teaching He also urges readers to develop the creative intuitive and natural born abilities that help to fashion their own individual teaching styles Though informed by the Induction Standards the aim of the book is to help teachers set ambitious personal and professional expectations through which they will realize their full potential The Social Construction of Meaning John Yandell, 2013-09-27 This book takes a fresh look at secondary urban English classrooms and at what happens when students and their teachers explore literature collaboratively By closely examining what happens in English lessons minute by minute it reveals how literary texts function not as a valorised heritage to be transmitted but as a resource for the students work of cultural production and contestation The reading that is undertaken in classrooms has tended to be construed as either a poor substitute or merely a preparation for other reading particularly for that paradigmatic literacy event the absorbed and simultaneously discriminating consumption of the literary text by the independent private reader This book argues for a different understanding of what constitutes reading an understanding that is informed by historical and ethnographic perspectives and by psychological and semiotic theory It presents the case for a conception of reading as an active collaborative process of meaning making and for a fully social model of learning Drawing extensively on data gathered through classroom observation and filming of English lessons taught over the course of a year by two teachers in a London secondary school the book explores students engagement with literary texts and the pedagogy that facilitates this engagement The book offers new insights into reading and reading literature in particular It challenges the paradigm of reading that is offered in government policy and the assumption common to much work within the field of new literacies that schooled literacy is the already known the default against which the alternative literacy practices of homes and communities can be defined It will be valuable reading for researchers teachers teacher educators and postgraduate students and will have particular appeal for those with an interest in the fields of English studies and literacy From What Is to What If Rob Hopkins, 2019-10-15 Big ideas that just might save the world The Guardian The founder of the international Transition Towns movement asks why true creative positive thinking is in decline asserts that it s more important now than ever and suggests ways our communities can revive and reclaim it In these times of deep division and deeper despair if there is a consensus about anything in the world it is that the future is going to be awful There is an epidemic of loneliness an epidemic of anxiety a mental health crisis of vast proportions especially among young people There s a rise in extremist movements and governments Catastrophic climate change Biodiversity loss Food insecurity The fracturing of ecosystems and communities beyond it seems repair The future to say nothing of the present looks grim But as Transition movement cofounder Rob Hopkins tells us there is plenty of evidence that things can change and cultures can change rapidly dramatically and unexpectedly for the better He has seen it happen around the world and in his own town of Totnes England where the community is becoming its own housing developer energy company enterprise incubator and local food network with cascading benefits to the community that extend far beyond the projects themselves We do have the capability to effect dramatic change Hopkins argues but we re failing because we ve largely allowed our most critical tool to languish human imagination As defined by social reformer John Dewey imagination is the ability to look at things as if they could be otherwise The ability that is to ask What if And if there was ever a time when we needed that ability it is now Imagination is central to empathy to creating better lives to envisioning and then enacting a positive future Yet imagination is also demonstrably in decline at precisely the moment when we need it most In this passionate exploration Hopkins asks why imagination is in decline and what we must do to revive and reclaim it Once we do there is no end to what we might accomplish From What Is to What If is a call to action to reclaim and unleash our collective imagination told through the stories of individuals and communities around the world who are doing it now as we speak and witnessing often rapid and dramatic change for the better Teaching History Hilary Bourdillon, 2013-10-31 Against a background of controversy surrounding the teaching of history this reader gathers the current thoughts of the leading practitioners The development of school history up to the national curriculum and beyond is traced and the main issues concerning history teachers today are examined These issues include access to history the definition of British history in a multicultural society gender and the place of history with the humanities Progression and attainment are discussed as is the development of pupil s historical understanding and practical approaches to teaching history to 11 18 level pupils are explored Comparative Perspectives on Inquiry-Based

Quest for Space: The Indian Connect ,2014-02-15 Human endeavours in space over the past six decades have reached a stage that just about every facet of human life today has some complement of space capability contributing to it encompassing the entire spectrum from telecommunications navigation weather forecasting remote sensing broadcasting and disaster management Space exploration actually owes its origins to matters military with civil applications coming about as a by product Capability building in space thereafter has witnessed frenzied progress in the spheres of both the military and the civil commercial With an ever increasing number of countries joining the space bandwagon space is getting congested and competitive International legislation on space though well meaning is largely viewed to be inadequate to address the concerns of equitable access to space and more alarmingly is reticent on the issue of militarisation and weaponisation The Indian presence in the global space order is rather significant Ranking sixth globally in terms of space budget and technological capability India is capable of going beyond its calling. Its multi dimensional space programme spans almost the entire spectrum from space launch to satellite construction and their employment in a large array of development centric applications and in recent years in missions beyond the Earth. The Mangalyaan mission to Mars currently underway symbolises India's indigenous technological prowess and is a harbinger of its capability of cementing its status as a responsible space player at the global level. India thus stands today technologically robust and self reliant well poised in the global space order to look beyond its domestic charter and address the concerns of the international global community. Space legislation, situational awareness and international cooperation in space security are some of the geostrategic options analysed in this book which could facilitate Indian positioning in the global space order.

Criminology on Trump Gregg Barak, 2022-05-16 Criminology on Trump is a criminological investigation of the world's most successful outlaw Donald J Trump. Over the course of five decades Donald Trump has been accused of sexual assault, tax evasion, money laundering, non payment of employees and the defrauding of tenants, customers, contractors, investors, bankers and charities. Yet he has continued to amass wealth and power. In this book criminologist and social historian Gregg Barak asks why and how. This book examines how the United States precariously maintains stability through conflict in which groups with competing interests and opposing visions struggle for power, negotiate rule breaking and establish criminal justice. While primarily focused on Trump's developing character over three quarters of a century, it is also an inquiry into the changing cultural character and social structure of American society. It explores the ways in which both crime and crime control are socially constructed in relation to a changing political economy. An accessible and compelling read, this book is essential for all those who seek a criminological understanding of Donald Trump's rise to power.

Quantum Information, Computation and Communication Jonathan A. Jones, Dieter Jaksch, 2012-07-19 Quantum physics allows entirely new forms of computation and cryptography which could perform tasks currently impossible on classical devices, leading to an explosion of new algorithms, communications protocols and suggestions for physical implementations of all these ideas. As a result, quantum information has made the transition from an exotic research topic to part of mainstream undergraduate courses in physics. Based on years of teaching experience, this textbook builds from simple fundamental concepts to cover the essentials of the field. Aimed at physics undergraduate students with a basic background in quantum mechanics, it guides readers through theory and experiment, introducing all the central concepts without getting caught up in details. Worked examples and exercises make this useful as a self study text for those who want a brief introduction before starting on more advanced books.
