Scientific Research Effectiveness J. Hurley, 2012-12-06 Baruch S Blumberg NASA Astrobiology Institute Ames Research Center Moffett Field CA USA Scientific research is one of the major human enterprises Many governments are convinced that research and its products provide the means to enrich an economic life that is no longer sustained by traditional manufacturing and service industries The public has a high expectation of medical research and many are convinced that with the expenditure of sufficient money all human diseases can be conquered they look forward to a long and disease free life There is also a great interest in many sectors of society to understand nature not only in order to control it or learn how best to cope with its uncertainties but to accumulate knowledge for its own sake Finally scientific research contributes significantly to the intellectual stores of humanity and provides an important process to explore the most profound questions of life Modern science is rarely a solitary occupation It requires heavy investments in equipment supplies buildings and field capabilities Scientists need a band of fellow explorers with whom to share the adventure discuss experiments and results and perhaps most importantly enable the testing and retesting of their hypotheses by themselves and by others This was certainly the case in my own research which led eventually to the discovery of the Hepatitis B virus and later to the vaccine for it Scientific training is very specialized whereas the solutions to problems transcend narrow disciplinary borders
