The Palgrave Handbook of Innovative Community and Clinical Psychologies Carl Walker, Sally Zlotowitz, Anna Zoli, 2022-02-01 This handbook highlights a range of ground breaking radical and liberatory clinical and critical community psychology projects from around the world The disciplines of critical community psychology and clinical psychology are currently experiencing radical innovations that in this book are characterised as moving from the individualising practice realm toward an altogether more contextualising orientation Both fields are responding to an array of political social and economic injustices and a global political context Community and clinical psychologists have found themselves reorienting their practice to confront resist and subvert the structures that are so damaging to the lives of the vulnerable people they work with This text posits that these approaches refute and resist the psychologising that has strengthened oppressive structures Such practices are starting to engage in the political character of power knowledge relationships that demand a more action oriented and less clinical psychology praxis and there is a growing interest in and commitment to social justice in the field of mental wellbeing Using examples of scholar activist and practitioner work from around the world this collection explores and documents those practices where the traditional remit of community and clinical psychology have been subverted altered stretched changed and reworked in order to reframe practice around human rights creativity political activism social change space and place systemic violence community transformation resource allocation and radical practices of disruption and direct action

Posthuman Community Psychology Michael Richards, 2023-05-02 Posthuman Community Psychology is an exploration of mainstream psychology through a critical posthumanity perspective examining psychology's place in the world and its relationship with marginalised people with a focus on people with disabilities The book argues that the history of modern psychology is underpinned by reductionism and individualism which is embedded within the contemporary psychology that we know today despite the challenges from critical and community psychologists who seek a more empowering inclusive and activist psychology The posthuman community psychology ideas that emerge in this book examine and intersect with mainstream psychology critical and community psychologies critical posthumanities and disability studies to propose an imaginative reflective and relational new psychology that represents a collection of possibilities that do not remain entrenched in older ways of thinking about humans and human connections Richards proposes that psychology has the potential to evolve and make a powerful and profound difference for marginalised people but a genuine desire for change from psychologists is essential for this to happen Illustrating the important considerations needed when examining the relationship between the discipline of psychology and marginalised people this book is fascinating reading for community psychology students and academics aspiring professional psychologists community workers and policy makers
