Philosophical Reflections on Disability D. Christopher Ralston, Justin Ho, 2009-09-19 This project draws together the diverse strands of the debate regarding disability in a way never before combined in a single volume After providing a representative sampling of competing philosophical approaches to the conceptualization of disability as such the volume goes on to address such themes as the complex interplay between disability and quality of life questions of social justice as it relates to disability and the personal dimensions of the disability experience By explicitly locating the discussion of various applied ethical questions within the broader theoretical context of how disability is best conceptualized the volume seeks to bridge the gap between abstract philosophical musings about the nature of disease illness and disability found in much of the philosophy of medicine literature on the one hand and the comparatively concrete but less philosophical discourse frequently encountered in much of the disability studies literature It also critically examines various claims advanced by disability advocates as well as those of their critics In bringing together leading scholars in the fields of moral theory bioethics and disability studies this volume makes a unique contribution to the scholarly literature while also offering a valuable resource to instructors and students interested in a text that critically examines and assesses various approaches to some of the most vexing problems in contemporary social and political philosophy

Work Accommodation and Retention in Mental Health
Izabela Z. Schultz, E. Sally Rogers, 2010-11-16

Growing interest in the field of mental health in the workplace among policy makers clinicians and researchers alike has been fueled by equal employment rights legislation and increasing disability statistics in mental health The importance of addressing this topic is underscored by the fact that depression now ranks second on the hierarchy of occupational disabilities The problem is compounded by a host of factors including major difficulties in job retention and productivity experienced by persons with mental health disabilities younger age and higher education of persons with mental health problems and labor shortages and an aging workforce in many industrialized countries In addition particularly in the United States the vocational needs of army veterans returning from duty with mental health disorders require system based solutions and new rehabilitation approaches The pressure created by these powerful legislative societal and economic forces has not been matched by the state of evidence based practices in the field of employment retention and job accommodation in mental health Current research evidence is fragmented limited in scope difficult to access and adversely affected by the traditional divide between the fields of psychiatry and psychology on one hand and interdisciplinary employment research and practices on the other As a result policy makers employers disability compensation systems and rehabilitation and disability management professionals have been left without a critical how to evidence informed toolbox for occupational practices to accommodate and retain persons with mental health disabilities in the workplace Currently no single source of knowledge and research evidence exists in the field that would guide best practices Yet the need for workplace accommodations for persons with mental health disabilities has been growing and based on epidemiological trends is anticipated to grow even more in the future These trends leave physicians psychologists occupational therapists vocational rehabilitation professionals disability managers human resource professionals and policy makers poorly prepared to face the challenge of integrating and maintaining persons with mental health disabilities in the workplace The aim of the Handbook is to close the gap between the needs of the professionals and networks that work with or study persons with mental health disorders in an employment context and the actual knowledge base in the field The Handbook will be written in language that can easily be understood by readers representing a multitude of disciplines and research paradigms spanning the mental health rehabilitation and employment fields of inquiry The Handbook will contribute an integration of the best quantitative and qualitative research in the field together with experts consensus regarding effective work retention and accommodation strategies and practices in mental health The book will consist of five major sections divided into chapters written by recognized experts in these areas From Acute to Chronic Back Pain Monika

Breaking Down Barriers Pat Langdon,Jonathan Lazar,Ann Heylighen,Hua Dong,2018-02-19 The Cambridge Workshops on Universal Access and Assistive Technology CWUAAT is one of the few gatherings where people interested in inclusive design across different fields including designers computer scientists engineers architects ergonomists ethnographers policymakers and user communities meet discuss and collaborate CWUAAT has also become an international workshop representing diverse cultures including Portugal Germany Trinidad and Tobago Canada Australia China Norway USA Belgium UK and many more The workshop has five main themes based on barriers identified in the developing field of design for inclusion I Breaking Down Barriers between Disciplines II Breaking Down Barriers between Users Designers and Developers III Removing Barriers to Usability Accessibility and Inclusive Design IV Breaking Down Barriers between People with Impairments and Those without V Breaking Down Barriers between Research and Policy making In the context of developing demographic changes leading to greater numbers of older people and people living with impairments the general field of inclusive design research strives to relate the capabilities of the population to the design of products services and spaces CWUAAT has always had a successful multidisciplinary focus but if genuine transdisciplinary fields are to evolve from this the final barriers to integrated research must be identified and characterised Only then will benefits be realised in an inclusive society Barriers do not arise from impairments themselves but instead are erected by humans who often have not considered a greater variation in sensory cognitive and physical user capabilities Barriers are not only technical or architectural but they also exist between different communities of professionals Our continual goal with the CWUAAT workshop series is to break down barriers in technical physical and architectural design as well as barriers between different professional communities
