Africa in a Changing Global Order Malte Brosig, 2021-08-09 This book focuses on marginal actors in the global order Such a perspective is often missing as global order analysis is often biased towards exploring large powerful actors and equating their relations with global order Such an approach is not only dated but also analytically incomplete It is because of the increasingly decentred nature of global order that marginal actors and their relations tactics strategies and approaches matter for global order as they matter for these actors The book starts by providing an analytical framework exploring different policy options for African agency which are located along a nexus of choices ranging from accommodation engagement to system transformation The selection of a particular interaction type is argued to be dependent on external opportunity structures in the form of different global orders reaching from competitive polarity to dispersed forms of authority or even non polarity In addition to these external conditions the ability to generate meaningful African agency facilitates a greater role in global order Empirically the book covers four policy fields which are peace and security international criminal justice economics and trade and COVID 19

V. Paul,Deborah Welch Larson,Harold A. Trinkunas,Anders Wivel,Ralf Emmers,2021 Abstract

With the rapid rise of China and the relative decline of the United States the topic of power transition conflicts is back in popular and scholarly attention. The discipline of International Relations offers much on why violent power transition conflicts occur yet very few substantive treatments exist on why and how peaceful changes happen in world politics. This Handbook is the first comprehensive treatment of the subject of peaceful change in International Relations. It contains some 41 chapters all written by scholars from different theoretical and conceptual backgrounds examining the multi-faceted dimensions of this subject. In the first part key conceptual and definitional clarifications are offered and in the second part papers address the historical origins of peaceful change as an International Relations subject matter during the Inter War, Cold War and Post Cold War eras. In the third part each of the IR theoretical traditions and paradigms in particular Realism, liberalism, constructivism and critical perspectives and their distinct views on peaceful change are analyzed. In the fourth part papers tackle the key material, ideational and social sources of change. In the fifth part the papers explore selected great and middle powers and their foreign policy contributions to peaceful change, realizing that many of these states have violent past or tend not to pursue peaceful policies consistently. In part six the contributors evaluate the peaceful change that occurred in the world's key regions. In the final part the editors address prospective research agenda and trajectories on this important subject matter.
