De Oliveira, Tony Silva, 2013 Second language writers and the teaching of writing at the secondary level have received little attention compared with other skills such as reading Addressing this gap this volume uniquely looks at both adolescent L2 writing and the preparation of secondary teachers to work with this population of students Part I on adolescent L2 writers includes case studies looking at their literacy identities their trajectories in mainstream content area classes and their transition from high school to college Part II looks at academic issues The focus in Part III is L2 writing teacher education Taking a theoretically eclectic approach that can support a variety of pedagogies this book contributes significantly to understanding adolescent second language writers and to educating teachers to address these students specific needs Teacher , 1976 THE Journal , 1995 Children's Books in Print R R Bowker Publishing, Bowker, 1999-12 Resources in Education , 1995 Second Language Acquisition , 2024-09-04 Second Language Acquisition Learning

Theories and Recent Approaches will aim to present the process of learning an additional language apart from one's native language. The process of understanding writing and speaking another language with fluency involves complex intellectual and emotional responses as well as continuous information processing abilities. A variety of perspectives is needed in order for learning to take place. Many factors both internal and external are involved in determining why some learn a second language at a faster rate than others. With an internal or external focus of attention, various linguistic techniques have explored the basic questions about SLA. With the ability to convey and structure information in a second language, there is a need for what is being learned to be viewed from various perspectives. The focus on continuous natural UG capability for language learning versus communicative processing requirements differs among viewpoints on how SLA develops. This book intends to provide readers with language acquisition, language comprehension, language development, language processing, and psychological and social variables which have been largely excluded by purely language approaches. Research in Education, 1973

The Social Studies Professional, 2008 Teacher as Activator of Learning Gayle H. Gregory, 2016-02-11

Flip the Switch: How to Get Students Into Learning Mode Now In his well-known meta-analysis, John Hattie suggests that facilitating learning is not as effective or powerful as activating learning. In this book, Gayle Gregory shows you how to facilitate better and deeper learning. Packed with practical strategies that teachers can use every day to increase student achievement, you will also discover what educational neuroscience says about nurturing a growth mindset and creating classrooms that support and encourage students to take risks and fail forward. Learn how to foster student dialogue and thinking. Orchestrate productive, reflective, flexible student groups. Develop respectful learning relationships between and among students and teachers. Teacher competencies and clarity related to student goals and success criteria with quality feedback are essential for student success. This resource will enrich learning environments for students and increase the chance of success for all. In going from teachers as fount of knowledge to teacher as facilitator, the field has overcorrected. Gayle Gregory corrects all that with a comprehensive and deep portrayal of the need for teachers to be activators of learning in partnership with students. Based on equal measure of research and practice, Gregory gives a compelling set of ideas and tools to maximize student learning and engagement. Read it and hit the ground running. Michael Fullan, Professor Emeritus, OISE, University of Toronto. Creativity in the Classroom Alane J. Starko, 2010. The fourth edition of this well-known text continues the mission of its predecessors to help teachers link creativity research and theory to the everyday activities of classroom teaching. Part I, chs 1-5, includes information on models and theories of creativity, characteristics of creative people, and talent development. Part II, chapters 6-10, includes strategies explicitly designed to teach creative thinking, to weave creative thinking into content area instruction, and to organize basic classroom activities, grouping, lesson planning, assessment, motivation, and classroom organization in ways that support students' creativity. Changes in this Edition: Improved Organization. This edition has been reorganized from 8 to 10 chapters, allowing the presentation of theoretical material in clearer more manageable chunks New Material e In addition to general updating there are more examples involving middle and secondary school teaching more examples linking creativity to technology new information on the misdiagnosis of creative students as ADHD and more material on cross cultural concepts of creativity collaborative creativity and linking creativity to state standards Pedagogy Design e Chapter opening vignettes within chapter reflection questions and activities sample lesson ideas from real teachers and end of chapter journaling activities help readers adapt content to their own teaching situations Also a larger trim makes the layout more open and appealing and a single end of book reference section makes referencing easier Targeted specifically to educators but useful to others this book is suitable for any course that deals wholly or partly with creativity in teaching teaching the gifted and talented or teaching thinking and problem solving Such courses are variously found in departments of special education early childhood education curriculum and instruction or educational psychology
