1.1 The Objective of This Book

From Chapter 1.1 is a Synopsis to describe the broad outline of the book. Since the students usually have not had a reference to read (Chapter 1 is the first reference section), I start with a synopsis to the chapter material.

The major points I discuss are:

- Accounting is an ideal setting. There, prudent value-based accounting is natural. I go over the ideal conditions required for such a form of accounting to be desirable, but do not go into much detail because this topic is covered in greater depth in Chapter 2.
- As a consequence to the concept of information asymmetry and resulting problems of adverse selection and moral hazard. These problems are basic to the book and, hence, I go through for the students to have a "first go" at them. At this point, I concentrate on the situation underlying the two problems. The examples, adverse selection can be illustrated by selling what would be first to four to purchase the insurance. If there was no medical examination, or what quality of used cars are likely to be brought to market. For moral hazard, I try to get them started on how hard they would work in the labour if there were no unions.
- The environment in which financial accounting and reporting operates. My main goal at this point is that the students do not take this environment for granted. I discuss the procedures of standard setting briefly and point out that this is really a process of regulation. In the past, there have been well-known cases of deregulation, such as airlines, banking, financial institutions, power generation. However, we are entering what is likely to be a period of increasing regulation, at least for financial institutions, institutions.
