Southeast Asia Regional Forum, 2000 Indonesia Circle, 1994 The Tropical Rain Forest Marius Jacobs, 2012-12-06 In recent years tropical forests have received more attention and have been the subject of greater environmental concern than any other kind of vegetation There is an increasing public awareness of the importance of these forests not only as a diminishing source of countless products used by mankind nor for their effects on soil stabilization and climate but as unrivalled sources of what today we call biodiversity Threats to the continued existence of the forests represent threats to tens of thousands of species of organisms both plants and animals It is all the more surprising therefore that there have been no major scientific accounts published in recent years since the classic handbook by Paul W

Richards The Tropical Rain Forest in 1952 Some excellent popular accounts of tropical rain forests have been published including Paul Richard s The Life of the Jungle and Catherine Caulfield s In the Rainforest and Jungles edited by Edward Ayensu There have been numerous often conflicting assessments of the rate of conversion of tropical forests to other uses and explanations of the underlying causes and in 1978 UNESCO UNEPI FAO published a massive report The Tropical Rain Forest which although full of useful information is highly selective and does not fully survey the enormous diversity of the forests

Rainforest Organizations Steve Shipp,1997 Rainforests home to more than half of all plant and animal species on earth while covering less than six percent of the world s land area have intricate ecosystems with multitudes of animal and plant species including humans Yet deforestation of the rainforests has greatly increased in the past half century Ten thousand years ago rainforests covered an estimated 9 5 million square miles but as millions of trees are lost daily to agricultural and commercial development scientific studies project the reduction of rainforests to six million square miles by the year 2000 and 3 5 million square miles by 2050 Numerous scientific political conservationist public information and other organizations have been formed to address every aspect of rainforests over 120 worldwide can be found in this directory Each entry lists the address phone number contact person e mail or Internet address if available mission statement or goals publications and often the group s history and current projects All listed agencies and organizations readily accept queries for information about rainforests and most invite participation in their activities and projects
