originally published as a special issue of the Canadian Journal of Philosophy The British and Foreign Evangelical Review, 1862 Systematic Theology John Miley, 1893 Philosophical Perspectives on Newtonian Science Phillip Bricker, R. I. G. Hughes, 1990 These original essays explore the philosophical implications of Newton's work They address a wide range of topics including Newton's influence on his contemporaries and successors such as Locke and Kant and his views on the methodology of science on absolute space and time and on the Deity Howard Stein compares Newton's refusal to lock natural philosophy into a preexisting system with the more rigid philosophical predilections of his near contemporaries Christian Huygens and John Locke Richard Arthur's commentary provides a useful gloss on Stein's essay Lawrence Sklar puzzles over Newton's attempts to provide a unified treatment of the various real quantities absolute space time and motion According to Phillip Bricker's responding essay however the distinctions Sklar draws do not go to the heart of the debate between realists and representationalists J E McGuire and John Carriero debate Newton's views of the relationship between the Deity and the nature of time and space Peter Achinstein looks at the tension between Newton's methodological views and his advocacy of a corpuscular theory of light he suggests that Newton could justify the latter by a weak inductive inference but R I G Hughes believes that this inference involves an induction Newton would be unwilling to make Immanuel Kant's critique of Newton's view of gravity is discussed and amplified by Michael Friedman In response Robert DiSalle raises a number of problems for Friedman's analysis Errol Harris and Philip Grier extend the discussion to the present day and look at the ethical implications of Newton's work Phillip Bricker is Associate Professor of Philosophy at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst R I G Hughes is Associate Professor of Philosophy at the University of South Carolina Philosophical Perspectives on Newtonian Science is included in the Johns Hopkins Series on the History and Philosophy of Science An analysis of Mr. Locke's doctrine of ideas in his Essay on human understanding. (fold. tab.) Of human understanding John Locke, 1824 A Dictionary of Philosophy in the Words of Philosophers J. Radford Thomson, 1887

The Big Bang Never Happened Eric Lerner, 1992-10-27 A mesmerizing challenge to orthodox cosmology with powerful implications not only for cosmology itself but also for our notions of time God and human nature with a new Preface addressing the latest developments in the field Far ranging and provocative The Big Bang Never Happened is more than a critique of one of the primary theories of astronomy that the universe appeared out of nothingness in a single cataclysmic explosion ten to twenty billion years ago Drawing on new discoveries in particle physics and thermodynamics as well as on readings in history and philosophy Eric J Lerner confronts the values behind the Big Bang theory the belief that mathematical formulae are superior to empirical observation that the universe is finite and decaying and that it could only come into being through some outside force With inspiring boldness and scientific rigor he offers a brilliantly orchestrated argument that generates explosive intellectual debate
