discussions of North America have largely revolved around the often technical implications of the North American Free Trade Agreement NAFTA or US homeland security What has been lacking by contrast is a culturally driven set of reflections This book examines the legacy of indigenous cultures the role of organized religion pathways to independence the role of imperial languages manifest destiny market capitalism and its limitations democratic practices and failures diverging uses of the state new world utopias and dystopias regional identities and civilizational perspectives What results is a vision of North America that defies any top down attempt to impose a homogeneous North Americanness

Paths of Revolution Adolfo Gilly, 2022-10-18 First English language anthology of one of Latin America's pre-eminent Marxist writers. The Argentine-born writer Adolfo Gilly has directly observed many of Latin America's most dramatic events from the Bolivian Revolution of the 1950s and Cuba during the Missile Crisis to the guerrilla wars of Central America and Mexico's Zapatista uprising. Paths of Revolution presents the first representative selection from across his extensive body of work collecting close quarters reportage, sharp political analyses and reflections on art and letters. A living link between the New Left of the 1960s and the Pink Tide of recent decades, Gilly once described the twentieth century as a series of lightning flashes which can illuminate our present-day predicament. The essay form is where he fully comes into his own, covering a truly impressive range of topics and places. This collection draws out the continuities within one of the world's more vibrant and politically successful left traditions. In the introduction, Tony Wood, author of Russia Without Putin, offers an overall portrait of Gilly's life and work. The Time Before Death, Constantin V. Ponomareff, 2013. This collection of fifteen essays deals with the literary memoirs of major twentieth-century writers and focuses on the spiritual, physical and moral devastation of 20th-century life. They are comparative and cross-cultural. There is no other collection of essays with this range brought under one cover. The Princeton Sourcebook in Comparative Literature, David Damrosch, Natalie Melas, Mbongiseni Buthelezi, 2009-08-23. Key essays on comparative literature from the eighteenth century to today. As comparative literature reshapes itself in today's globalizing age, it is essential for students and teachers to look deeply into the discipline's history and its present possibilities. The Princeton Sourcebook in Comparative Literature is a wide-ranging anthology of classic essays and important recent statements on the mission and methods of comparative literary studies. This pioneering collection brings together thirty-two pieces from foundational statements by Herder, Madame de Staël and Nietzsche to work by a range of the most influential comparatists writing today, including Lawrence Venuti, Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak and Franco Moretti. Gathered here are manifestos and counterarguments, essays in definition and debates on method by scholars and critics from the United States, Europe, Asia, Africa and Latin America, giving a unique overview of comparative study in the words of some of its most important practitioners. With selections extending from the beginning of comparative study through the years of intensive theoretical inquiry and on to contemporary discussions of the world's literatures, the Princeton Sourcebook in Comparative Literature helps readers navigate a rapidly evolving discipline in a dramatically changing world. Towards a Philosophy of Narco Violence in Mexico, Amalendu Misra, 2017-11-24. This book explores the politics of narco-killing and public attitudes to violence and death in the Mexican Drug War. It examines questions such as the culture of human sacrifice, the religious principles that sanction egregious violence and, most importantly, the society's complex response strategies towards such violence. Primarily a philosophical reflection, this study nonetheless uses anthropological, architectural and sociological methods to provide an interdisciplinary explanation to the visceral commonplace violence taking place in contemporary Mexico. Latin American Readings for a Cultural Age, E. A Way Through the Global Techno-Scientific Culture Sheldon Richmond,2020-04-07

Computers are supposed to be smart yet they frustrate both ordinary users and computer technologists Why are people frustrated by smart machines Computers don t fit people People think in terms of comparisons stories and analogies and seek feedback whereas computers are based on a fundamental design that does not fit with analogical and feedback thinking They impose a binary an all or nothing approach to everything Moreover the social world and institutions that have developed around computer technology hide and reinforce the lack of alignment between computers and people This book suggests a solution we do not have to accept the way things are now and work around the bad social and technical design of computers Rather it proposes a diverse distributed critical discussion of how to design and build both computer technology and its social institutions

Memory and Trauma in International Relations Erica Resende, Dovile Budryte, 2013-11-20. This work seeks to provide a comprehensive and accessible survey of the international dimension of trauma and memory and its manifestations in various cultural contexts. Drawing together contributions and case studies from scholars around the globe, the book explores the international political dimension of feeling, suffering, forgetting, remembering and memorializing traumatic events and to investigate how they function as social practices for overcoming trauma and creating social change. Divided into two sections, the book maps out the different theoretical debates and then moves on to examine emerging themes such as ontological security, social change, gender, religion, foreign policy, natural disasters. Throughout the chapters, the editors consider the social, political and ethical implications of forgetting and remembering traumatic events in world politics. To Uphold the World Bruce Rich, 2010-03-01. In 1991, Bruce Rich traveled to Orissa and gazed upon the rock edicts erected by the Indian emperor Ashoka over 2,200 years ago. Intrigued by the stone inscriptions that declared religious tolerance, conservation, nonviolence, species protection and human rights, Rich was drawn into Ashoka's world. Ashoka was a powerful conqueror who converted to Buddhism on the heels of a bloody war, yet his empire rested on a political system that prioritized material wealth and amoral realpolitik. This system had been perfected by Kautilya, a statesman who wrote the world's first treatise on economics. In this powerful critique of the current wave of globalization, Rich urgently calls for a new global ethic, distilling the messages of Ashoka and Kautilya while reflecting on thinkers from across the ages, from Aristotle and Adam Smith to George Soros.

Vagabond Witness Paul Gordon, 2013-05-31. Victor Serge was the first and the greatest witness of the twentieth century. An anarchist in France, a syndicalist in Spain, a critical Bolshevik in Russia, an agent of the Comintern in Germany and Austria, an exile, Serge once said that people judged history but they did so without knowing what really happened and who the actors really were. All his work—novels, reportage, poetry, criticism—was an attempt to show what really happened and why. Serge never lost hope that ordinary people would act for themselves and take control of their own lives. On the ship taking him to exile in Mexico, where he would die isolated and in poverty, he recalled: "The Russians and Spaniards among us know what it is to take the world into their hands, to set the railways running and the factories working; no kind of predestination impels us to become the offal of the concentration camps."

One World Periphery Reads the Other Ignacio López-Calvo, 2009-12-14. While Said focused on the perceptions and stereotypes of the Near East Oriental in England France and the United States most of these essays study the decentering interplay between peripheral areas of the Third World semiperipheral areas Spain and Portugal since the second part of the seventeenth century and marginalized social groups of the globe Chicanos African Americans and Filipino Americans They explore for example how China and the Far East in general are imagined and represented in Latin America and the Caribbean or how ethnic minorities in the United States such as Chicanos and African Americans incorporate Filipino characters in their novels or creolize their music with Chinese influences As the title of this book suggests sometimes these peripheral areas and social groups talk back to the metropolitan centers of the former empires or look for their mediation while others they avoid the interference of the First World or of hegemonic social groups altogether in order to address other peripheral peoples directly thus creating rich South South cross cultural flows and exchanges The main difference between the imperialistic orientalism studied by Said and this other type of global cultural interaction is that while in their engagement with the Orient they may be reproducing certain imperialistic fantasies and mental structures typically there is not an ethnocentric process of self idealization or an attempt to demonstrate cultural ontological or racial superiority in South South intellectual and cultural exchanges This way to de center or to provincialize Europe pace Dipesh Chakrabarty disrupts the traditional center periphery dichotomy bringing about multiple and interchangeable centers and peripheries whose cultures interact with one another without the mediation of the European and North American metropolitan centers

Heterogeneity of Being Marco Luis Dorfsman, 2015-01-26 One hundred years after his birth Nobel laureate Octavio Paz is considered one of the most important thinkers of Mexican identity one of the most influential Mexican poets and one of the main representatives of a national cosmopolitanism Most readings of his work whether critical or laudatory operate within these parameters Through a careful analysis of Latin Americanist discourses on identity and difference Heterogeneity of Being goes beyond the standard interpretations of Octavio Paz as a thinker of national identity and proposes a radical rethinking of the rift and the bond between literature and philosophy It puts forth the key concept of diferencia a difference a wound an inheritance a burden and a dispossession and reads it through the notion of similitude in order to show that Paz's tradition of rupture properly displays a continuity between self and other identity and difference time and space The work of Octavio Paz yields invaluable insights for the fields of literary theory cultural studies history of science and art history

Being in the World Fred Dallmayr, 2013-05-16 Tradition community and pride are fundamental aspects of the history of Appalachia and the language of the region is a living testament to its rich heritage Despite the persistence of unflattering stereotypes and cultural discrimination associated with their style of speech Appalachians have organized to preserve regional dialects complex forms of English peppered with words phrases and pronunciations unique to the area and its people Talking Appalachian examines these distinctive speech varieties and emphasizes their role in expressing local history and promoting a shared identity Beginning with a historical and geographical overview of the region

An Ethos of Transdisciplinarity Sanya Osha, 2025-04-01 Toyin Falola's astounding intellectual production must be one of the mysteries in the intellectual world It has transcended the confined world of historical research into broader horizons that include the role of the public intellectual The present study would undertake a rigorous analysis of the origins continuities and discontinuities of this transformation This means we have to recast the debates regarding who is a public intellectual from a multiplicity of discursive situations and historical and cultural contexts We have to employ methodological parallels from North Atlantic intellectual traditions How did the role of the public intellectual emerge in the first place in world intellectual history Addressing this question would enrich this research endeavour immensely In interrogating comparative discursive formations we shall re-evaluate the roles functions and achievements of continental intellectuals such as Bertrand Russell Jean Paul Sartre Andre Malraux Albert Camus Michel Foucault Edward Said Wole Soyinka and Pierre Bourdieu Again this discursive element will give this study a global appeal and range
