Jacob Lawrence The Migration Series:

Jacob Lawrence Leah Dickerman, Elsa Smithgall, 2015 In 1941 Jacob Lawrence then just twenty three years old completed a series of sixty small tempera paintings with text captions about the Great Migration Within months of its making Lawrence s Migration series was divided between The Museum of Modern Art even numbered panels and the Phillips Memorial Gallery odd numbered panels The work has since become a landmark in the history of African American art a monument in the collections of both institutions and a crucial example of the way in which history painting was radically reimagined in the modern era In 2015 and 2016 marking the centenary of the Great Migration s start 1915 16 the panels will be reunited in exhibitions at The Museum of Modern Art and then The Phillips Collection Published to accompany the exhibition this publication both grounds Lawrence s Migration series in the cultural and political debates that shaped the young artist s work and highlights the series continued resonance for artists and writers working today An essay by Leah Dickerman situates the series in relation to heady contemporary discussions of the artist s role as a social agent a growing imperative to write and give image to black history in the late 1930s and early 1940s and an emergent sense of activist politics Elsa Smithgall traces the exhibition history of the Migration panels from their display at the Downtown Gallery in New York in 1941 to their acquisition by MoMA and the Phillips Collection a year later Short commentaries on each panel explore Lawrence s career and painting technique and aspects of the social history of the Migration portrayed in his images The catalogue also debuts ten poems newly commissioned from acclaimed poets written in response to the Migration series Elizabeth Alexander honoured as the poet at President Obama s first inauguration introduces the poetry project with a discussion of the poetic quality of Lawrence s work as well as the impact and legacy of the poets in his orbit including Claude McKay and Langston Hughes Jacob Lawrence Jacob Lawrence, Elizabeth Hutton Turner, Lonnie G. Bunch, Phillips Collection, 1993 Includes reproductions of 60 paintings from this series and provides critical essays and quotes from the artist himself Jacob Lawrence Jacob Lawrence, Leah Dickerman, Elsa Smithgall, 2017-02-28 Published in conjunction with exhibitions featuring Jacob Lawrence s Migration series organized by The Museum of Modern Art New York and The Phillips Collection Washington D C in collaboration with the Schomburg Center for Research in Black Culture Page 191 Jacob Lawrence and the Migration Series from the Phillips Collection Phillips Collection, 2007 Jacob Lawrence Louise C. McKinney, 1995 Jacob Lawrence and the Migration Series Phillips Collection, 2007 Jacob Lawrence Phillips Collection, Dixon Gallery and Gardens, 1996 The Migration series is a set of 60 paintings which depict the movement of African Americans from the rural South to the industrial cities of the North after World War I Allan DeSouza Allan DeSouza, 2021 The World Series featured a group of 60 color photographs created in response to Jacob Lawrence s Migration Series 1940 41 from the Phillips Collection While The Migration Series chronicles the Great Migration of African Americans beginning in 1915 The World Series used images from Allan deSouza s travels taking us on a journey around the world from

San Francisco to New York Paris London Berlin the countryside of Ireland and New Delhi Pulled from snapshots of airport terminals waiting rooms customs offices traffic signs and various landscapes these images captured fleeting moments and contemporary migrations Both series hover between figuration and abstraction they exposed the human condition of people on the move in states of physical intellectual and emotional transition Whereas Lawrence's work is epic and even tragic deSouza's is poetic humorous and indirectly yet poignantly political

The Migration Series, No. 57 by Jacob Lawrence, 1940-1941 National Endowment for the Humanities, The Great Migration Jacob Lawrence, 1995-09-15 Around the time of WWI large numbers of African Americans began leaving their homes in the rural South in search of employment in the industrial cities of the North In 1940 Lawrence chronicled their journey of hope in a flowing narrative sequence of paintings This stirring picture book brings together the sixty panels of Lawrence's epic narrative Migration series which he created in 1940-1941 They tell of the journey of African Americans who left their homes in the South around World War I and traveled in search of better lives in the northern industrial cities Lawrence is a storyteller with words as well as pictures his captions and introduction to this book are the best commentary on his work A poem at the end by Walter Dean Myers also reveals as do the paintings the universal in the particulars BL Notable Children's Books of 1994 ALA 1993 Books for Youth Editors Choices BL 1994 Teachers Choices IRA Notable 1994 Children's Trade Books in Social Studies NCSS CBC 1994 Carter G Woodson Outstanding Merit Book NCSS 1994 Books for the Teen Age NY Public Library Jacob Lawrence and The Migration Series Ashley Alessandro, 1995 Epic Ambitions in Modern Times Robert Crossley, 2022-08-16 Epic Ambitions in Modern Times explores how artists in varied genres and media have aimed for in Milton's phrase things unattempted yet in epic creation Starting with the last books of Paradise Lost as a farewell to the ancient tradition of epic and extending to an assessment of four twenty-first century women writers retelling canonical epics in the voices of marginalized characters the book's intervening chapters consider epic in the forms of an epistolary novel a work of history a poetic autobiography an opera a silent film a series of paintings two literary fantasies three poems set in the future and a play

JACOB LAWRENCE: THE HARLEM, HARRIET TUBMAN AND MIGRATION SERIES., 1989 The Complete Jacob Lawrence Peter T. Nesbitt, 2000 Jacob Lawrence Stephanie E. Dickinson, 2016-07-15 Jacob Lawrence was a talented painter whose work became an important part of the Harlem Renaissance and modern art Learn about his life influences and impact Imagery of Lynching Dora Apel, 2004 Outside of the classroom and scholarly publications lynching has long been a taboo subject Nice people it is felt do not talk about it and they certainly do not look at images representing the atrocity In Imagery of Lynching Dora Apel contests this adopted stance of ignorance Through a careful and compelling analysis of over one hundred representations of lynching she shows how the visual documentation of such crimes can be a central vehicle for both constructing and challenging racial hierarchies She examines how lynching was often orchestrated explicitly for the camera and how these images circulated on postcards but also how they eventually were appropriated by antilynching forces and artists from the 1930s to the present She further investigates how photographs were used to construct ideologies of whiteness and blackness the role that gender played in these visual representations and how interracial desire became part of the imagery Offering the fullest and most systematic discussion of the depiction of lynching in diverse visual forms this book addresses questions about race class gender and dissent in the shaping of American society Although we may want to avert our gaze Apel holds it with her sophisticated interpretations of traumatic images and the uses to which they have been put

John Brown Still Lives! R. Blakeslee Gilpin, 2011-11-14 From his obsession with the founding principles of the United States to his cold blooded killings in the battle over slavery's expansion John Brown forced his countrymen to reckon with America's violent history its checkered progress toward racial equality and its resistance to substantive change Tracing Brown's legacy through writers and artists like Thomas Hovenden W E B Du Bois Robert Penn Warren Jacob Lawrence Kara Walker and others Blake Gilpin transforms Brown from an object of endless manipulation into a dynamic medium for contemporary beliefs about the process and purpose of the American republic Gilpin argues that the endless distortions of John Brown misrepresentations of a man and a cause simultaneously noble and terrible have only obscured our understanding of the past and loosened our grasp of the historical episodes that define America's struggles for racial equality By showing Brown's central role in the relationship between the American past and the American present Gilpin clarifies Brown's complex legacy and highlights his importance in the nation's ongoing struggle with the role of violence the meaning of equality and the intertwining paths these share with the process of change

The Power of Art Caroline Campbell, 2024-01-02 An epic work of art history that will transform our understanding of the world by unlocking the human stories behind millennia of art Taking readers from ancient Babylon to contemporary Pyongyang the eminent curator Caroline Campbell explains art's power to illuminate our lives and inspires us to benefit from its transformative and regenerative power Unlike the majority of contemporary art history this book is about much more than the cult of artists personalities Instead each chapter is structured around a city at a particularly vibrant moment in its history describing what propelled its creativity and innovation The emotions and societies she evokes are highly recognizable revealing how great art resonates powerfully by transcending the boundaries of time

Unruly Visions Gayatri Gopinath, 2018-10-25 In Unruly Visions Gayatri Gopinath brings queer studies to bear on investigations of diaspora and visibility tracing the interrelation of affect archive region and aesthetics through an examination of a wide range of contemporary queer visual culture Spanning film fine art poetry and photography these cultural forms which Gopinath conceptualizes as aesthetic practices of queer diaspora reveal the intimacies of seemingly disparate histories of post colonial dwelling and displacement and are a product of diasporic trajectories Countering standard formulations of diaspora that inevitably foreground the nation state as well as familiar formulations of queerness that ignore regional gender and sexual formations she stages unexpected encounters between works by South Asian Middle Eastern African Australian and Latinx artists such as Tracey Moffatt Akram Zaatari and Allan deSouza Gopinath shows how their art functions as regional queer archives that express alternative understandings of time space and relationality The queer optics produced by these visual practices creates South to South region to region and diaspora to region cartographies that profoundly challenge disciplinary and area studies rubrics Gopinath thereby provides new critical perspectives on settler colonialism empire military occupation racialization and diasporic dislocation as they indelibly mark both bodies and landscapes

Poetic Inquiry as Social Justice and Political Response Abigail Cloud, Sandra L. Faulkner, 2019-12-02 This volume speaks to the use of poetry in critical qualitative research and practice focused on social justice In this collection poetry is a response a call to action agitation and a frame for future social justice work The authors engage with poetry s potential for connectivity political power and evocation through methodological theoretical performative and empirical work The poet researchers consider questions of how poetry and Poetic Inquiry can be a response to political and social events be used as a pedagogical tool to critique inequitable social structures and how Poetic Inquiry speaks to our local identities and politics The authors answer the question What spaces can poetry create for dialogue about critical awareness social justice and re visioning of social cultural and political worlds This volume adds to the growing body of Poetic Inquiry through the demonstration of poetry as political action response and reflective practice We hope this collection inspires you to write and engage with political poetry to realize the power of poetry as political action response and reflective practice
