A Leftist Critique of the Principles of Identity, Diversity, and Multiculturalism Richard Anderson-Connolly,2019-06-18 Identity politics is a lightning rod in American society To both its progressive supporters and conservative critics it is seen as defining the agenda of the Left Both sides are wrong Identity politics is not a leftist project Instead it enables the neoliberal political economy that has caused historic levels of inequality and triggered repression and mass incarceration to deal with the social wreckage Identity politics is a form of biological essentialism impeding morality built upon universal humanism and politics built upon solidarity Unlike the conservative assaults this book avoids the trivial and silly pronouncements of identity politics a term generally avoided in the work as loaded and pejorative It challenges the following key principles of the Identity Diversity and Multiculturalism Program Diversity as Justice the most important struggle for justice today is increasing the representation throughout society of individuals from historically marginalized groups by ending discrimination on the grounds of race gender sexual orientation and similar characteristics Colorblindness as Racism race neutral solutions to the problems caused by racism are harmful to blacks Race as Culture members of different races specifically blacks and whites in the United States belong to different cultures Culture as Virtue cultures should be respected and celebrated This book forcefully argues that none of these tenets is or rather should be a leftist commitment For progressives who accept the principles it poses a challenge How do you defend them from a leftist critique one that does not deny the continuing significance of discrimination rather than from the weaker attacks of conservatives For those on the Right this work represents a threat Once leftists return to their core commitments they will form a powerful movement for political and economic change

The Subject of Liberty Nancy J. Hirschmann, 2009-01-10 This book reconsiders the dominant Western understandings of freedom through the lens of women s real life experiences of domestic violence welfare and Islamic veiling Nancy Hirschmann argues that the typical approach to freedom found in political philosophy severely reduces the concept s complexity which is more fully revealed by taking such practical issues into account Hirschmann begins by arguing that the dominant Western understanding of freedom does not provide a conceptual vocabulary for accurately characterizing women s experiences Often free choice is assumed when women are in fact coerced as when a battered woman who stays with her abuser out of fear or economic necessity is said to make this choice because it must not be so bad and coercion is assumed when free choices are made such as when Westerners assume that all veiled women are oppressed even though many Islamic women view veiling as an important symbol of cultural identity Understanding the contexts in which choices arise and are made is central to understanding that freedom is socially constructed through systems of power such as patriarchy capitalism and race privilege Social norms practices and language set the conditions within which choices are made determine what options are available and shape our individual subjectivity desires and self understandings Attending to the ways in which contexts construct us as subjects of liberty Hirschmann argues provides a firmer empirical and theoretical footing for understanding what freedom means and entails politically intellectually and socially

The Right to Equality in European Human Rights Law Charilaos Nikolaidis, 2014-07-25 A right to equality and non discrimination is widely seen as fundamental in democratic legal systems But failure to identify the human interest that equality aims to uphold reinforces the argument of those who attack it as morally empty or unsubstantiated and weakens its status as a fundamental human right This book argues that an understanding of the human interest which equality aims to uphold is feasible within the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR and the European Court of Justice ECJ In comparing the evolution of the prohibition of discrimination in the case law of both Courts Charilaos Nikolaidis demonstrates that conceptual convergence within the European Convention on Human Rights ECHR and the EU on the issue of equality is not as far as it might appear initially While the two bodies of equality law are extremely divergent as to the requirements they impose their interpretation by the international judiciary might be properly analysed under a common light to emphasise the substantive dimension of equality in European Human Rights law The book will be of great use and interest to scholars and students of human rights discrimination law and European politics
