Inevitable Act I Deleted Scene:

Sink! A Titanic Murder Mystery Briandaniel Oglesby, 2024-11-18 Isn't the Titanic the perfect setting for a murder mystery? The glamorous passengers, the conveniently distracting iceberg, it's all fun and games for Detective Tennessee Blossom until the captain announces that nobody in the first class lounge can board a lifeboat until they discover the murderer among them. But then, who are these people and what is this place really? Are we even in a classic Edwardian mystery or sinking into another genre altogether? Each of the nesting layers of this puzzle box holds a surprise in this mind-bending, hilarious mystery comedy. Incest, Drama and Nature's Law, 1550-1700 Richard A. McCabe, 2008-10-30 This is a full-length study of incest in English Renaissance and Restoration drama. Richard McCabe's comprehensive survey offers a literary history of this theme informed by an investigation of the intellectual background with particular emphasis on changing concepts of natural law and consequent reassessments of classical tradition. It examines a wide range of theological, philosophical, legal, and literary sources in the context of modern psychological and sociological theories of family development. Extensive comparisons with classical models and contemporary European dramatists from Tasso to Corneille and Racine explore the volatile association between dramatic form and emotional content, structural experiment and sexual ambivalence. The centrality of the family to all human relationships and the mutual reflection of familial politics and the patriarchal state make incest a powerful metaphor for the ambivalence of all concepts of natural authority and for various forms of social and political revolt. The Heart Is the Strongest Kari Kilgore, 2020-04-11 Two Hearts Strong and True Moving home to Lightning Gap, Virginia brings the change Craig needs. Slower pace, peace, and quiet, caring for his parents. And a break from relationships that burn too hot and fast. Sophie returns home to join the family business. Working outdoors, helping people, getting closer to nature. Escaping a rough breakup soothes her bruised heart. Will a lightning storm, a beautiful old tree, and chance bring them together? An excerpt from The Heart Is the Strongest. Whether Sophie used the biggest chainsaw he'd ever seen, operated the crane to move logs easily ten feet long, or gathered up a massive armful of branches, Craig's gaze was constantly drawn to her. The air fairly crackled around her, from her gorgeous green eyes to her shining black hair. And her words and her expressions, the sharp intelligence she never bothered trying to hide. That spark was one of the many reasons he'd left Atlanta. To give himself a break from relationships so intense they couldn't help but burn themselves out. Reset his circuitry, maybe figure out a way to be with a woman or a man without getting so consumed. Giving all the intensity and drama up now that he was getting older made all kinds of sense. Until he met Sophie. And realized how much he'd missed that connection. How much he honestly needed it. Storms of the Heart Kari Kilgore, 2020-05-15 The Discovery of Destiny. Laura Michaelson knows the expected course of her life. The right education. The right guy. The bright future. None of it fits quite as well as it used to. The instant Laura and Connor

Ágnes Pethő, 2012-03-15 Ever since the centenary of cinema there have been intense discussions in the field of film studies about the imminent demise of the cinematic medium endless articles championing the spirit of genuine cinephilia have proclaimed the death of classical cinema and mourned the end of an era while new currents in media studies introduced such buzzwords into the discussions as remediation Bolter and Grusin media convergence Jenkins post media aesthetics Manovich or the virtual life of film Rodowick By the turn of the millennium the whole ecosystem of media had been radically altered through processes of hybridization and media convergence Some theorists even claim that now that the term medium has triumphed in the discussions around contemporary art and culture the actual media have already deceased as digitized imagery absorbs all media Moving images have entered the art galleries and new forms of inter art relationships have been forged They have also moved into the streets and our everyday life as a domesticated medium at everybody's reach into new private and public environments and into a fusion of both via the Internet Consequently should we speak of an all pervasive cinematic experience instead of a cinematic medium What really happens to film once its traditional medium has shape shifted into various digital forms and once its traditional locations institutions and usages have been uprooted What do these re locations and re configurations really entail What are the most important new genres in post media moving pictures Is it the web video is it 3D cinema is it the computer game that operates with moving image narratives is it the new vernacular database the DVD or the good old television adjusted to all these new forms How does theatrical cinema itself adapt to or reflect on these new image forms and technologies How can we interpret the convergence of older cinematic forms with an emerging digital aesthetics traceable in typical post media hosts of moving images These are only some of the major questions that the theoretical investigation and in depth analyses in this volume try to answer in an attempt at exploring not the disappearance of cinema but the blooming post media life of film Convergence Culture Henry Jenkins, 2006-08
