Children's Book-a-Day

Almanac Anita Silvey, 2012-10-30 An expert on children's literature provides a worthwhile resource for teachers, librarians and parents. Booklist: The Children's Book a Day Almanac is a new way to discover a great children's book every day of the year. This fresh, inventive reference book is a dynamic way to showcase the gems, both new and old, of children's literature. Each page features an event of the day, a children's book that relates to that event, and a list of other events that took place on that day. Always informative and often surprising, it celebrates a year of literature for children with The Children's Book a Day Almanac. This has solid possibilities as a springboard for daily reading and writing activities in the classroom or as simply a book focused way to start the day. Bulletin of the Center for Children's Books

Techwise: Infant and Toddler Teachers Patricia A. Cantor, Mary M. Cornish, 2016-10-01 Infants and toddlers, the so-called touchscreen generation, are living in a screen-media-saturated world. They are the target market for ever-growing numbers of apps, TV shows, electronic toys, and e-books. Making sense of the complex issues associated with screen media in the lives of children under 3 can be challenging for the adults who care for them. There is a strong need among teachers and parents of infants and toddlers for guidance related to the appropriate role of screen media in early care and education. Unlike most other books about technology in early childhood, this book focuses specifically on infants and toddlers. It explores why and how infant and toddler teachers need to be techwise in order to understand the implications of screen media for children's learning and development. The book serves as a single, accessible resource to relevant research findings from the fields of pediatric medicine, child development, developmental psychology, social and behavioral sciences, and brain science. It provides infant/toddler teachers with a comprehensive approach and strategies to guide their decisionmaking and promote practices that are evidence-based, family-centered, culturally responsive, and collaborative. It is a call for teachers to think carefully and act wisely when making decisions about screen media, both the technology that they are encountering now and the technology they will encounter in the future, in order to optimize the learning and healthy development of infants and toddlers.

Building Brains Suzanne R. Gellens, 2012-09-21 Building Brains expands young children's learning with six hundred brain-based, developmentally appropriate activity ideas. It combines the latest information on brain development with activities that support children's learning and enrich any early childhood curriculum. Rather than step-by-step activities, Building Brains is filled with open-ended ideas that early child professionals can execute in a variety of ways, depending on children's needs and interests. Ideas are organized by age, from age zero to five, and learning domains.

Infant-Toddler Social Studies Carla B. Goble, 2017-12-05 As infants become toddlers, their expanding sense of self, growing motor language, and cognitive skills provide opportunities for learning more about the physical and social world around them. This book is a valuable resource for advancing a child's sense of self, cultural identity, social relationships, and connectedness to community through developmentally appropriate activities. Carla B. Goble has a MS and PhD in child development from Oklahoma State University and a BS in education from the University of Central Oklahoma. She is an award-winning early childhood educator.

founding member of the Oklahoma Early Childhood Education Organization Home visitor's handbook for the Head Start home-based program option ,2004 Literacy and Reading Programmes for Children and Young People: Case Studies from Around the Globe Patrick Lo,Stephanie H.
