From Dead Ends to Cold Warriors Peter W.Y. Lee, 2021-02-12 After World War II studies examining youth culture on the silver screen start with James Dean But the angst that Dean symbolized anxieties over parents the Establishment and the expectations of future citizen soldiers long predated Rebels without a Cause Historians have largely overlooked how the Great Depression and World War II impacted and shaped the Cold War and youth contributed to the national ideologies of family and freedom From Dead Ends to Cold Warriors explores this gap by connecting facets of boyhood as represented in American film from the 1930s to the postwar years From the Andy Hardy series to pictures such as The Search Intruder in the Dust and The Gunfighter boy characters addressed larger concerns over the dysfunctional family unit militarism the race question and the international scene as the Korean War began Navigating the political social and economic milieus inside and outside of Hollywood Peter W Y Lee demonstrates that continuities from the 1930s influenced the unique postwar moment coalescing into anticommunism and the Cold War

Congressional Record United States. Congress, 2000 Dare to Be Spiritual Patrick Mooney, 2021-06-28 The West has become an expert in invasion and war not because of threats to the home front but to exploit natural resources that do not belong to us The time has come for individual Christians to fire their consciences instead of guns A passion of conscience is the only rational way to subvert our national differences Patrick Mooney explores how the spirituality of nonviolent resistance can bring us to a better place in this book Arguing that violence has not made us happy he shares insights such as Christ told us You find by giving away We become more by giving ourselves to one another We in the West have huge obligations toward poorer nations because of all the goods we have stolen through imperialism We are taught that satiation of the ego is our only purpose Contrary to natural law the profit motive has become the driving force of our lives The crisis facing our planet stems from our failure to differentiate between religion and spirituality on the one hand and religion and politics on the other Social inequality arises exactly because we have failed to balance the relationship between materiality and spirituality
