Injured Brains Of Medical Minds Views From Within:

Injured Brains of Medical Minds Narinder Kapur, 1999 Injured Brains of Medical Minds II Narinder Kapur, Vaughan Bell, Daniel Friedland, Steven Kemp, 2024-10-17

There are three aims of Injured Brains of Medical Minds II. Firstly to provide perceptive accounts of symptoms and the natural history of brain disorders by people specially trained in the art of observing and reporting thus yielding unique insights into the lived experience of what it is like to be a patient and to be disabled. Secondly to offer insights into how the brain works since the articles are written by patients who are uniquely privileged in view of their understanding of the brain. Thirdly to highlight ways in which the conditions described in the book can be best managed and treated by healthcare professions and carers. Each chapter includes a set of articles by doctors and other healthcare professionals who have suffered a brain injury, illness or brain injury recounting their experience accompanied by a commentary for each article. The commentaries critically examine the piece relating it to current issues in neuropsychology, neurology and cognitive neuroscience. Accounts from over 40 individuals cover a wide range of conditions including stroke, traumatic brain injury, Alzheimer's Disease and other forms of dementia, brain tumour, infectious and inflammatory conditions, multiple sclerosis and epilepsy. Summaries are also included of recent books written by doctors, scientists who suffered a brain disorder. This second volume includes totally new articles and commentaries providing a valuable insight into what it is like to suffer from a brain disorder as well as advice both to patients and practitioners as to what can best be done to improve everyday limitations resulting from a brain disorder. The first volume was published by Oxford University Press in 1997.

A Journey John S Campbell MD, 2006-06. All of us repeatedly grieve, heal and reinvent ourselves throughout our lives. Being aware of and active in this inherent aspect of our existence, I believe to be a less painful and more satisfying way of living than blindly struggling with or resisting these natural processes. John S Campbell MD, author of A Journey: Creative Grieving and Healing. We all die, he seems to be telling us. What is far more important is that we live a meaningful life before that time comes. We all need to dig deep to find our own wisdom so we may understand what John is telling us. Nikki DeFrain M.S. and John DeFrain Ph.D. from their Foreword.

Nervous Conditions Elizabeth Green Musselman, 2012-02-01. Nervous Conditions explores the role of the body in the development of modern science, challenging the myth that modern science is built on a bedrock of objectivity and confident empiricism. In this fascinating look into the private world of British natural philosophers including John Dalton, Lord Kelvin, Charles Babbage, John Herschel and many others, Elizabeth Green Musselman shows how the internal workings of their bodies played an important part in the sciences' movement to the center of modern life and how a scientific community and a nation struggled their way into existence. Many of these natural philosophers endured serious nervous difficulties, particularly vision problems. They turned these weaknesses into strengths, however, by claiming that their well-disciplined mental skills enabled them to transcend their bodily frailties. Their adeptness at transcendence, they asserted, explained why men of science belonged at the heart of modern life and qualified them to address such problems as unifying the British provinces into one nation managing the industrial workplace and accommodating religious plurality

Making up the Mind Chris Frith, 2013-05-20 Written by one of the world's leading neuroscientists, Making Up the Mind is the first accessible account of experimental studies showing how the brain creates our mental world. Uses evidence from brain imaging, psychological experiments, and studies of patients to explore the relationship between the mind and the brain. Demonstrates that our knowledge of both the mental and physical comes to us through models created by our brain. Shows how the brain makes communication of ideas from one mind to another possible.

Neuropsychotherapy and Community Integration Tedd

Judd,2012-12-06 The first time I walked onto a neurology ward during my graduate training I was shocked much as family members of people with brain illnesses probably are I had learned a great deal in class about aphasia amnesia agnosia apraxia and other cognitive disorders but I had not been prepared for the behavioral disorders I was to encounter for the severe physical disabilities for the indignities of the patient role Bit by bit I overcame this shock I learned to look people in the eye who seemed to have more tubes than the New York subway system people whose faces had been scraped off the pavement and who were drooling incontinent and severely dysarthric I learned to see beyond what frightened and repulsed me to the human beings within I wish I could say that I saw in each person a deep human soul yearning to breathe free and to love an essence an intrinsic goodness a wholeness I did not Rather it seems like each and every unique element of human behavior one s abilities and one s desires can be destroyed by some brain lesion while leaving a uniquely human person behind Not only are there losses but behaviors emerge at times that are not seen in people with intact brains but which still reveal a human attempting to cope I do feel that I saw and still see in each such person something intrinsically human but not the same thing in each

Clinical and Neuropsychological Aspects of Closed Head Injury John T. E.

Musicophilia Oliver Sacks,2010-02-05 What goes on in human beings when they make or listen to music

What is it about music what gives it such peculiar power over us power delectable and beneficent for the most part but also capable of uncontrollable and sometimes destructive force Music has no concepts it lacks images it has no power of representation it has no relation to the world And yet it is evident in all of us we tap our feet we keep time hum sing conduct music mirror the melodic contours and feelings of what we hear in our movements and expressions In this book Oliver Sacks explores the power music wields over us a power that sometimes we control and at other times don t He explores in his inimitable fashion how it can provide access to otherwise unreachable emotional states how it can revivify neurological avenues that have been frozen evoke memories of earlier lost events or states or bring those with neurological disorders back to a time when the world was much richer This is a book that explores like no other the myriad dimensions of our experience of and with music
