Computers in Education Robert Lewis, E. D. Tagg, 1981 The Athenaeum, 1844 Ambient Stories in Practice and Research Amy Spencer, 2024-11-14

From a range of academic and practice led perspectives this book explores how a combination of place based writing and location based technologies are producing new kinds of experimental ambient literary experience. In so doing it unpacks how situated literary experiences delivered through text audio and sensor based delivery offer distinctive new forms of reading and listening and lay the ground for a new poetics of situated writing practices. Exploring an experimental practice based approach to digital literary forms and its emerging poetics this book critically examines the ecology of ambient literature from a range of perspectives including researchers and practitioners working in the fields of digital writing, sonics, visual art, performance, literary studies, creative writing and computer science. Essays look towards the emerging field of ambient literature drawing on contributors' own background and interests. Contributors study topics ranging from ecological and climatic challenges through critical and creative cartographies to understanding the metaphorical work of ambient as a form embedded in the social, technological and literary. Including practice based essays from writers, artists and practitioners on the use of data to write poetry and the position of the writer as maker, this book's combination of practice led approaches and interdisciplinary research makes it a valuable and varied contribution to the field of digital writing.

Horror Literature and Dark Fantasy Mark A. Fabrizio, 2018-05-16

Horror Literature and Dark Fantasy: Challenging Genres is a collection of scholarly essays intended to address the parent whose unreasoning opposition to horror entails its removal from a school curriculum, the school administrator who sees little or no redeeming literary value in horror, and the teacher who wants to use horror to teach critical literacy skills but does not know how to do so effectively. The essays herein are intended to offer opportunities for teachers in secondary schools and higher education to enrich their classes through a non-canonical approach to literary study. This book is a deliberate attempt to enlarge the conversation surrounding works of horror and argue for their inclusion into school curricula to teach students critical literacy skills.
