Doolan,2024 During the 1950s thousands of mixed race children were born to US servicemen and local Korean women in US occupied South Korea Assumed to be the progeny of camptown women or military prostitutes their presence created a major problem for the image of US democracy in the world at a time when the nation was vying for Cold War allegiances abroad As mixed race children became a discernible population around US military encampments in South Korea communists seized upon the image of those left behind by their GI fathers as evidence of US imperialism irresponsibility and immorality in the Third World Aware of this and keen to redeem the image of America s intervention in Asia US citizens spearheading the postwar recovery of recently war torn South Korea embarked upon a campaign in US Congress to bring as many of these children home By the early 1960s American philanthropists missionaries and voluntary agencies had succeeded in constructing the figure of the abandoned and mistreated Amerasian orphan to lobby US Congress for the quick passage of intercountry adoption laws They also gained the sympathies of American families eager to welcome these racially different children into the intimate confines of their homes Although the adoptions of Korean Amerasian children helped to promote an image of humanitarian rescue and Cold War racial liberalism in 1950s and 1960s America there was one other problem many of these children were not actually orphans but had been living with their Korean mothers in the camptown communities surrounding US military bases prior to adoption Their placements into American families relied upon dehumanizing constructions of these women as hardened prostitutes who did not even love their own children South Korea as a backwards racist society bent up on Confucian tradition and pure bloodlines and the United States as a welcoming home in an era of intense racial segregation The First Amerasians tells the powerful oftentimes heartbreaking story of how Americans created and used the concept of the Amerasian to remove thousands of mixed race children from their Korean mothers to adoptive US homes during the 1950s and 1960s In doing so Yuri W Doolan reveals how the Amerasian is not simply a mixed race person fathered by a US serviceman in Asia nor a racial term used to describe individuals with one American and one Asian parent like its popular definition suggests Rather the Amerasian is a Cold War construct whose rescue has been utilized to repudiate accusations of US imperialism and achieve sentimental victories in the aftermath of wars not quite won by the military From such constructions Americans lobbied Congress twice first in the 1950s to establish international adoption laws that would lead to the placement of hundreds of thousands of Korean children in the United States then later in the 1980s when the plight of mixed race Koreans would be invoked again to argue for Amerasian immigration laws culminating in the migrations of tens of thousands of mixed race Vietnamese and their relatives Beyond Cold War historiography this book also shows how in using the figure of the mistreated and abandoned Amerasian in need of rescue Americans caused harm to actual people mixed race Koreans and their mothers specifically as children were placed into adoptive homes during an era where few regulations or safeguards existed to protect them from abuse negligence or racial hostilities in the US and many Korean mothers were coerced both physically and monetarily to relinquish their children to American authorities

Rhetorics Haunting the National Mall Roger C. Aden, 2018-09-15 Rhetorics Haunting the National Mall Displaced and Ephemeral Public Memories vividly illustrates that a nation s history is more complicated than the simple binary of remembered forgotten Some parts of history while not formally recognized within a commemorative landscape haunt those landscapes by virtue of their ephemeral or displaced presence Rather than being discretely contained within a formal sites these memories remain public by lingering along the edges and within the crevices of commemorative landscapes By integrating theories of haunting place and public memory this collection demonstrates that the National Mall often referred to as the nation s front yard might better be understood as the nation s attic because it hides those issues we do not want to address but cannot dismiss The neatly ordered installations and landscaping of the National Mall if one looks and listens closely reveal the messiness of US history From the ephemeral memories of protests on the Mall to the displaced but persistent presences of inequality each chapter in this book examines the ways in which contemporary public life in the US is haunted by incomplete efforts to close the book on the past Tracing Silences Ana

Dragojlovic, Annemarie Samuels, 2023-06-06 Silence is crucial to our social world Responding to the growing scholarly interest in social sciences and humanities for more in depth engagements with social silence this book explores what it means to trace silences and to include traces of silences in our scholarly representations What qualifies as silence and how does it relate to articulation to voice visibility and representation How can silences be sensed and experienced viscerally as well as narratively And how do we think with and interpret silences in the face of potential unknowability Grounded in ethnographic research in the Netherlands Israel Turkey China and Indonesia the chapters all contribute to a theorization of silence that embraces multivocality unintelligibility and uncertainty of interpretation As a collection of cutting edge scholarly work at the intersection of anthropology and history Tracing Silences argues for an in depth engagement with the unspeakable and unspoken through a range of modes and methods and in the historical social and political ways in which they emerge and are enacted in the particularities of people s lives This book will be of interest to scholars and students of history anthropology sociology political science and archival studies The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of History and Anthropology Living with War Robert Teigrob, 2016-04-11

Canada and the United States we think of one as a peaceable kingdom the other as a warrior nation But do our expectations about each country s attitudes to war and peace match the realities In Living with War Robert Teigrob examines how war is experienced and remembered on both sides of the 49th parallel Surveying popular and scholarly histories films and literature public memorials and museum exhibits in both countries he comes to some startling conclusions Americans may seem more patriotic even jingoistic but they are also more willing to debate the pros and cons of their military actions Canadians though more diffident in their public displays of patriotism are more willing than their southern neighbors to accept the official narrative that depicts just wars fought in the service of a righteous cause A provocative book that complements critiques of contemporary Canadian militarism such as Warrior Nation Living with War offers an intriguing look at the relationship with the military past on both sides of the border The Cambridge Handbook of Language Contact Salikoko S. Mufwene, Anna María

Escobar, 2022-06-30 Language contact the linguistic and social outcomes of two or more languages coming into contact with each other has been pervasive in human history. However, where histories of language contact are comparable experiences of migrant populations have been only similar, not identical. Given this, how does language contact work? With contributions from an international team of scholars, this Handbook, the first in a two-volume set, delves into this question from multiple perspectives and provides state-of-the-art research on population movement and language contact and change. It begins with an overview of how language contact as a research area has evolved since the late 19th century. The chapters then cover various processes and theoretical issues associated with population movement and language contact worldwide. It is essential reading for anybody interested in the dynamics of social interactions in diverse contact settings and how the changing ecologies influence the linguistic outcomes.

Hybridity in Life Writing Arnaud Schmitt, 2024-04-28 This book offers new perspectives on text-image hybridity in the context of life writing. Each chapter explores the very topical issue of how writers and artists combine two media in order to enhance the autobiographical narrative and experience of the reader. It questions the position of images in relation to text, both on the page and in terms of the power balance between media. It also shows how hybridity operates beyond a semantic and cultural balance of power, as the combination of text and images are able to produce content that would not have been possible separately. Including a range of life writing and different visual media, from paintings and photography to graphic memoirs and social media, this edited collection investigates the point at which an image, whether fixed or moving, enters the autobiographical act and confronts the verbal form.
