Making A New World Making A New World:

The Making of New World Slavery Robin Blackburn, 2010-08-02 The Making of New World Slavery argues that independent commerce geared to burgeoning consumer markets was the driving force behind the rise of plantation slavery. The baroque state sought successfully to feed upon this commerce and with markedly less success to regulate slavery and racial relations. To illustrate this thesis Blackburn examines the deployment of slaves in the colonial possessions of the Portuguese, the Spanish, the Dutch, the English and the French. Plantation slavery is shown to have emerged from the impulses of civil society, not from the strategies of individual states. Robin Blackburn argues that the organization of slave plantations placed the West on a destructive path to modernity and that greatly preferable alternatives were both proposed and rejected. Finally, he shows that the surge of Atlantic trade predicated on the murderous toil of the plantations made a decisive contribution to both the Industrial Revolution and the rise of the West. Making a New Deal Lizabeth Cohen, 2008 This book examines how ordinary factory workers became unionists and national political participants by the mid 1930s.

Language Acts and Worldmaking, 2022-02-17 Collectively authored by the Language Acts and Worldmaking team, this defining volume offers reflective narratives on research theory and practice over the course of the flagship project of the same name funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council's Open World Research Initiative. It returns to the project's key principles that our words make worlds and we are agents in worldmaking; analyses the practices and outcomes of collaborative working; and looks to the future by offering concrete ideas for how the work they have done can now continue to do its work in the world. Focusing on the key research strands, this volume looks at the role of the language teacher as a mediator between languages and cultures; worldmaking in modern languages; translation and the imagination; languages and hospitality; digital mediations; and how words change and make worlds. Critically, it analyses the impact on communities of living in multilingual cities and the ways in which learning a first language and then a second and so on plays a crucial role in our ability to understand our culture in relation to others and to appreciate the ways in which they are intertwined. Specific aims are to propose new ways of bridging the gaps between those who teach and research languages and those who learn and use them in everyday contexts; from the professional to the personal, put research into the hands of wider audiences; share a philosophy, policy and practice of language teaching and learning which turns research into action; provide the research experience and data to enable informed debates on current issues and attitudes in language learning, teaching and research; share knowledge across and within all levels and experiences of language learning and teaching; showcase exciting new work that derives from different types of community activity and is of practical relevance to its audiences; disseminate new research in languages that engages with diverse communities of language practitioners. Building the Worlds That Kill Us David Rosner, Gerald Markowitz, 2024-11-05 Across American history the question of whose lives are long and healthy and whose lives are short and sick has always been shaped by the social and economic order. From the dispossession of Indigenous people and the horrors of slavery to infectious diseases spreading in overcrowded tenements and the vast environmental contamination caused by industrialization and through climate change and pandemics in the twenty first century those in power have left others behind Through the lens of death and disease Building the Worlds That Kill Us provides a new way of understanding the history of the United States from the colonial era to the present David Rosner and Gerald Markowitz demonstrate that the changing rates and kinds of illnesses reflect social political and economic structures and inequalities of race class and gender These deep inequities determine the disparate health experiences of rich and poor Black and white men and women immigrant and native born boss and worker Indigenous and settler This book underscores that powerful people and institutions have always seen some lives as more valuable than others and it emphasizes how those who have been most affected by the disparities in rates of disease and death have challenged and changed these systems Ultimately this history shows that unequal outcomes are a choice and we can instead collectively make decisions that foster life and health

Social Democracy in the Making Gary Dorrien, 2019-04-23 An expansive and ambitious intellectual history of democratic socialism from one of the world s leading intellectual historians and social ethicists The fallout from twenty years of neoliberal economic globalism has sparked a surge of interest in the old idea of democratic socialism a democracy in which the people control the economy and government no group dominates any other and every citizen is free equal and included With a focus on the intertwined legacies of Christian socialism and Social Democratic politics in Britain and Germany this book traces the story of democratic socialism from its birth in the nineteenth century through the mid 1960s Examining the tenets on which the movement was founded and how it adapted to different cultural religious and economic contexts from its beginnings through the social and political traumas of the twentieth century Gary Dorrien reminds us that Christian socialism paved the way for all liberation theologies that make the struggles of oppressed peoples the subject of redemption He argues for a decentralized economic democracy and anti imperial internationalism

New Worlds for All Colin G. Calloway, 1998-02-18 Although many Americans consider the establishment of the colonies as the birth of this country in fact Early America already existed long before the arrival of the Europeans From coast to coast Native Americans had created enduring cultures and the subsequent European invasion remade much of the existing land and culture In New Worlds for All Colin Calloway explores the unique and vibrant new cultures that Indians and Europeans forged together in early America The journey toward this hybrid society kept Europeans and Indians lives tightly entwined living working worshipping traveling and trading together as well as fearing avoiding despising and killing one another In the West settlers lived in Indian towns eating Indian food In Mohawk Valley New York Europeans tattooed their faces Indians drank tea And a unique American identity emerged New Worlds, Old Ways Karen Lord, 2025-07-01 Discover some of the best in speculative short fiction from the Caribbean s up and coming voices The Caribbean has a powerful modern tradition of fantastic literature that s on full display in this anthology of original fiction by writers from Barbados Trinidad and Tobago and Bermuda None of these writers is likely to be familiar to American audiences but all are worth getting to know Readers who love the writing of Nalo Hopkinson Tobias S Buckell and Lord herself will savor this volume Publishers Weekly Starred Review Do not be misled by the speculative in the title Although there may be robots and fantastical creatures these common symbols are tools to frame the familiar from fresh perspectives Here you will find the recent past and ongoing present of government and society with curfews crime and corruption the universal themes of family growth and death love and hate the struggle to thrive when power is capricious and revenge too bittersweet Here too is the passage of everything old ways places peoples and ourselves leaving nothing behind but memories histories and stories This anthology speaks to the fragility of our Caribbean home but reminds the reader that although home may be vulnerable it is also beautifully resilient The voice of our literature declares that in spite of disasters this people and this place shall not be wholly destroyed Read for delight then read for depth and you will not be disappointed Brand new stories by Tammi Browne Bannister Summer Edward Portia Subran Brandon O Brien Kevin Jared Hosein Richard B Lynch Elizabeth J Jones Damion Wilson Brian Franklin Ararimeh Aiyejina and H K Williams Korean Musical Drama: P'ansori and the Making of Tradition in Modernity Dr Haekyung Um, 2014-02-28 P ansori is the quintessential traditional Korean musical
