Decolonising Science, Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) in an Age of Technocolonialism Nhemachena, Artwell, Hlabangane, Nokuthula, Matowanyika, Joseph Z. Z., 2020-03-02

Positing the notions of coloniality of ignorance and geopolitics of ignorance as central to coloniality and colonisation this book examines how colonialists socially produced ignorance among colonised indigenous peoples so as to render them docile and manageable Dismissing colonial descriptions of indigenous people as savages illiterate irrational prelogical mystical primitive barbaric and backward the book argues that imperialists colonialists contrived geopolitics of ignorance wherein indigenous regions were forced to become ignorant hence containable and manageable in the imperial world Questioning the provenance of modernist epistemologies the book asks why Eurocentric scholars only contest the provenance of indigenous knowledges artefacts and scientific collections Interrogating why empire sponsors the decolonisation of universities epistemologies in indigenous territories while resisting the repatriation restitution of indigenous artefacts the book also wonders why Westerners who still retain indigenous artefacts skulls and skeletons in their museums universities and private collections do not consider such artefacts and skulls to be colonising them as well The book is valuable to scholars and activists in the fields of anthropology museums and heritage studies science and technology studies decoloniality policymaking education politics sociology and development studies

Condoland James T. White, John Punter, 2023-05-31

Condoland casts CityPlace a massive residential development of more than thirty condominium towers just outside Toronto's downtown core as a microcosm of twenty first century urban intensification that has transformed the city skyline beyond all recognition Built almost entirely by a single private developer this immense neighbourhood took decades to plan design and develop but the end result lacks a sense of place and is not widely accessible to those who need homes only a small number of its 13 000 units constitute affordable housing and public amenities are limited James T White and John Punter journey through the forty year development of Toronto's largest residential megaproject focusing on its urban design and architectural evolution They also delve into the background summarizing the tools used to shape Toronto's built environment and critically explore the underlying political economy of planning and real estate development in the city Using detailed field studies interviews archival research and with nearly two hundred illustrations they reveal an alarmingly flexible approach to planning and design that is acquiescent to the demands of a rapacious development industry Condoland raises key questions about the sustainability and long term resilience of city planning
