Making It In Historical Fiction:

The Making of Modern Hindi Sujata S. Mody, 2018-08-22 In the early twentieth century British imperialism in India was at its peak and anti colonial sentiments were on the rise The nationalist desire for cultural self identification was gaining ground and an important articulation of this was the demand for a national language and literature to represent a modern India It was in this context that Mahavir Prasad Dwivedi a novel daring and contentious litterateur launched his multimedia campaign of constructing a new Hindi literary establishment As the long time editor of the Hindi journal Sarasvat Dwivedi s influence was so far reaching that this period of modern literature in Hindi is known as the Dwivedi era However he had to face stiff opposition as well Sujata Mody s book sheds light on the interactions between Dwivedi and his supporters and detractors and shows how Dwivedi s responses to challenges were pragmatic and strategically varied The Making of Modern Hindi presents Dwivedi as a dynamic and influential arbiter of literary modernity whose exchanges with competing authorities are an important piece in the history of Hindi literature

Making Black History Dominique Haensell, 2021-10-04 This study proposes that rather than trying to discern the normative value of Afropolitanism as an identificatory concept politics ethics or aesthetics Afropolitanism may be best approached as a distinct historical and cultural moment that is a certain historical constellation that allows us to glimpse the shifting and multiple silhouettes which Africa as signifier as real and imagined locus embodies in the globalized yet predominantly Western cultural landscape of the 21st century As such Making Black History looks at contemporary fictions of the African or Black Diaspora that have been written and received in the moment of Afropolitanism Discursively this moment is very much part of a diasporic conversation that takes place in the US and is thus informed by various negotiations of blackness race class and cultural identity Yet rather than interpreting Afropolitan literatures merely as a rejection of racial solidarity as some commentators have they should be read as ambivalent responses to post racial discourses dominating the first decade of the 21st century particularly in the US which oscillate between moments of intense hope and acute disappointment Please read our interview with Dominique Haensell here <https://blog.degruyter.com/de-gruyters-10th-open-access-book-anniversary-dominique-haensell-and-her-winning-title-making-black-history>

Making Time Carolin Gebauer, 2021-04-19 2023 Perkins Prize of the International Society for the Study of Narrative ESSE Book Award for Junior Scholars for a book in the field of Literatures in the English Language Responding to the current surge in present tense novels Making Time is an innovative contribution to narratological research on present tense usage in narrative fiction Breaking with the tradition of conceptualizing the present tense purely as a deictic category denoting synchronicity between a narrative event and its presentation the study redefines present tense narration as a fully fledged narrative strategy whose functional potential far exceeds temporal relations between story and discourse The first part of the volume presents numerous analytical categories that systematically describe the formal structural functional and syntactic dimensions of present tense usage in narrative fiction These categories are then deployed to investigate the uses and functions of present tense narration in selected twenty first century novels including Hilary Mantel's Wolf Hall Margaret Atwood's Oryx and Crake Ian McEwan's Nutshell and Irvine Welsh's Skagboys The seven case studies serve to illustrate the ubiquity of present tense narration in contemporary fiction ranging from the historical novel to the thriller and to investigate the various ways in which the present tense contributes to narrative worldmaking
