Governmentality and the Mastery of Territory in Nineteenth-Century America Matthew G. Hannah, 2000-09-14
Matthew Hannah's book focuses on late nineteenth century America the period of transformation which followed the Civil War and gave birth to the twentieth century This was a time of industrialization and urbanization Immigration was on the increase and traditional hierarchies were being challenged Using a combination of empirical and theoretical material Hannah explores the modernization of the American federal government during this period Discussions of gender race and colonial knowledge engage with Foucault's ideas on governmentality The empirical strands of the narrative surround the career and writing of Francis A Walker A hugely influential figure at that time Walker was Director of the 1870 and 1880 US censuses Commissioner of Indian affairs and a prominent political economist and educator Through an analysis of his work Hannah enriches previous interpretations of the period demonstrating that the modernization of the American national state was a thoroughly spatial and explicitly geographical project Governmentality and the Mastery of Territory in Nineteenth-Century America Matthew G. Hannah, 2000-09-14 Late nineteenth century America was a time of industrialization and urbanization Immigration was increasing and traditional hierarchies were being challenged Combining empirical and theoretical material Hannah explores the modernization of the American federal government during this period Discussions of gender race and colonial knowledge engage with Foucault's ideas on governmentality Through an analysis of the work of Francis A Walker a prominent political economist and educator of the time the author demonstrates that the modernization of the American national state was a thoroughly spatial and explicitly geographical project International Encyclopedia of Human Geography, 2019-11-29 International Encyclopedia of Human Geography Second Edition Fourteen Volume Set embraces diversity by design and captures the ways in which humans share places and view differences based on gender race nationality location and other factors in other words the things that make people and places different Questions of for example politics economics race relations and migration are introduced and discussed through a geographical lens This updated edition will assist readers in their research by providing factual information historical perspectives theoretical approaches reviews of literature and provocative topical discussions that will stimulate creative thinking Presents the most up to date and comprehensive coverage on the topic of human geography Contains extensive scope and depth of coverage Emphasizes how geographers interact with understand and contribute to problem solving in the contemporary world Places an emphasis on how geography is relevant in a social and interdisciplinary context In the Shadows of the Tropics James S. Duncan, 2016-05-23 In this original work James Duncan explores the transformation of Ceylon during the mid nineteenth century into one of the most important coffee growing regions of the world and investigates the consequent ecological disaster which erased coffee from the island Using this fascinating case study by way of illustration In the Shadows of the Tropics reveals the spatial unevenness and fragmentation of modernity through a focus on modern governmentality and biopower It argues that the practices of colonial power and the differences that race and tropical climates were thought to make were central to the working out of modern governmental rationalities In this context the usefulness of Foucault's notions of biopower discipline and governmentality are examined The work contributes an important rural focus to current work on studies of governmentality in geography and offers a welcome non state dimension by considering the role of the plantation economy and individual capitalists in the lives and deaths of labourers the destabilization of subsistence farming and the aggressive re territorialization of populations from India to Ceylon

The Life of the City Julian Brigstocke, 2016-03-03 Could the vitality of embodied experience create a foundation for a new form of revolutionary authority The Life of the City is a bold and innovative reassessment of the early urban avant garde movements that sought to re imagine and reinvent the experiential life of the city Constructing a ground breaking theoretical analysis of the relationships between biological life urban culture and modern forms of biopolitical experiential authority Julian Brigstocke traces the failed attempts of Parisian radicals to turn the crisis of authority in late nineteenth century Paris into an opportunity to invent new forms of urban commons The most comprehensive account to date of the spatial politics of the literary artistic and anarchist groups that settled in the Montmartre area of Paris after the suppression of the 1871 Paris Commune The Life of the City analyses the reasons why laughter emerged as the unlikely tool through which Parisian bohemians attempted to forge a new non representational biopolitics of sensation Ranging from the carnivalesque performances of artistic cabarets such as the Chat Noir to the laughing violence of anarchist terrorism The Life of the City is a timely analysis of the birth of a carnivalesque politics that remains highly influential in contemporary urban movements

Empire and Education under the Ottomans Emine O. Evered, 2012-05-27 Once hailed as the eternal state the Ottoman Empire was in decline by the end of the nineteenth century finally collapsing under the pressures of World War I Yet its legacies are still apparent and few have had more impact than those of its schools and educational policies Empire and Education under the Ottomans analyses the Empire's educational politics from the mid nineteenth century amidst the Tanzimat reform period until The Young Turk Revolution in 1908 Through a focus on the regional impact of decrees from Istanbul Emine O. Evered unravels the complexities of the era demonstrating how educational changes devised to strengthen the Empire actually hastened its demise This book is the first history of education in the Ottoman Middle East to evaluate policies in the context of local responses and resistance and includes the first published English translation of the watershed 1869 Ottoman Education Law A stimulating and impressively researched study it represents an important new addition to the historiography of the Ottoman Empire and will be essential for those researching its lasting legacy

Space, Knowledge and Power Stuart Elden, 2016-04-01 Michel Foucault's work is rich with implications and insights concerning spatiality and has inspired many geographers and social scientists to develop these ideas in their own research This book the first to engage Foucault's geographies in detail from a wide range of perspectives is framed around his discussions with the French geography journal Hérodote in the mid 1970s The opening third of the book comprises some of Foucault's previously untranslated work on questions of space a range of responses from French and English language commentators and a newly translated essay by Claude Raffestin a leading Swiss geographer The rest of the book presents specially commissioned essays which examine the remarkable reception of Foucault's work in English and French language geography situate Foucault's project historically and provide a series of developments of his work in the contemporary contexts of power biopolitics governmentality and war Contributors include a number of key figures in social spatial theory such as David Harvey Chris Philo Sara Mills Nigel Thrift John Agnew Thomas Flynn and Matthew Hannah Written in an open and engaging tone the contributors discuss just what they find valuable and frustrating about Foucault's geographies This is a book which will both surprise and challenge

The Global Politics of Science and Technology - Vol. 2 Maximilian Mayer, Mariana Carpes, Ruth Knoblich, 2014-08-20 An increasing number of scholars have begun to see science and technology as relevant issues in International Relations IR acknowledging the impact of material elements technical instruments and scientific practices on international security statehood and global governance This two volume collection brings the debate about science and technology to the center of International Relations It shows how integrating science and technology translates into novel analytical frameworks conceptual approaches and empirical puzzles and thereby offers a state of the art review of various methodological and theoretical ways in which sciences and technologies matter for the study of international affairs and world politics The authors not only offer a set of practical examples of research frameworks for experts and students alike but also propose a conceptual space for interdisciplinary learning in order to improve our understanding of the global politics of science and technology The second volume raises a plethora of issue areas actors and cases under the umbrella notion techno politics Distinguishing between interactional and co-productive perspectives it outlines a toolbox of analytical frameworks that transcend technological determinism and social constructivism

States of Subsistence José Ciro Martínez, 2022-04-12 On any given day in Jordan more than nine million residents eat approximately ten million loaves of khubz arabi the slightly leavened flatbread known to many as pita Some rely on this bread to avoid starvation for others it is a customary pleasure Yet despite its ubiquity in accounts of Middle East politics and society rarely do we consider how bread is prepared consumed discussed and circulated and what this all represents With this book José Ciro Martínez examines khubz arabi to unpack the effects of the welfare program that ensures its widespread availability

Drawing on more than a year working as a baker in Amman Mart nez probes the practices that underpin subsidized bread Following bakers and bureaucrats he offers an immersive examination of social welfare provision Mart nez argues that the state is best understood as the product of routine practices and actions through which it becomes a stable truth in the lives of citizens States of Subsistence not only describes logics of rule in contemporary Jordan and the place of bread within them but also unpacks how the state endures through forms sensations and practices amid the seemingly unglamorous and unspectacular day to day

The Government of Natural Resources Stéphane Castonguay, 2021-04-15 The Government of Natural Resources explores scientific and technical activity in Quebec from Confederation until the eve of the Second World War Scientific and technical personnel are an often quiet presence within the state but they play an integral role At the turn of the twentieth century the provincial government created geology forestry fishery and agronomy services These new services drew from recently established university technical programs to amass a corps of skilled employees to support their mission exploiting resources and occupying territory St phane Castonguay traces the history of mining logging hunting fishing and agriculture in Quebec to reveal how territorial and environmental transformations thus became a tool of government By helping to define and shape such interventions scientific activity contributed to state formation and expanded administrative capacity The lessons that this thoughtful reconceptualization of resource development offers reach well beyond provincial borders

Dreams of the Future in Nineteenth-Century Ireland Richard J. Butler, 2021-09-01 This interdisciplinary collection focuses on the history of the future and in particular how Irish people in the nineteenth century thought about their future in many different ways and contexts It spans the long nineteenth century from c 1800 to c 1914 and includes both people living on the island of Ireland and the Irish abroad women and men the religious and the secular the governing and the governed It explores both individually and collectively the various hopes dreams fears and visions of the future that permeated through nineteenth century Ireland and Irish life The collection also analyses how the Irish future was conceptualized and understood in different cultural contexts how visions of the future shifted in relation to the present and the past and how the future was instrumentalized for political religious or other social agendas It attempts to go beyond the usual political or religious discourses on what the future might hold for Irish people and consider a broader spectrum of witnesses from a mixture of historical and literary sources

Using Space: Critical Geographies of Drugs and Alcohol

Christopher M. Moreno, Robert Wilton, 2014-03-05 The consumption of drugs and alcohol and the pleasures and problems arising from this consumption can be understood as embedded and constitutive elements of social family and recreational life At the same time they are key sites of intervention for a broad array of state and non state actors focused on regulation treatment and recovery This edited volume showcases current research on the complex social and cultural geographies of drugs and alcohol Taking an avowedly critical approach the authors draw from a variety of theoretical traditions to explore the socially and spatially embedded nature of alcohol and drug consumption regulation and treatment and the ways in which these give rise to particular lived experiences while foreclosing on others Together the chapters question taken for granted assumptions about the nature of and motivations for drug and alcohol use and pay direct attention to both the intended and unintended consequences of regulation and treatment initiatives Despite and in part because of this critical stance chapters hold immediate implications for drug and alcohol policy and public health interventions This book was originally published as a special issue of Social and Cultural Geography

Fluid Geographies K. Maria D. Lane, 2024-07-18 Maria Lane's Fluid Geographies traces New Mexico's transition in the pre-statehood era from community-based water management to an expert-led structure controlled by engineers and bureaucrats. To understand this shift, Lane carefully examines the chief conflict of the period which pitted Indigenous and Nuevomexicano communities with their long-established and locally organized systems of irrigation management against Anglo-American settlers with their Progressive era preference for scientific expertise and centralized bureaucratic management of water. The newcomers succeeded in imposing their will though disputes over water rights wended their way through the district courts of New Mexico's Rio Grande watershed for many years. Lane has gathered the records of more than 125 such cases which she uses as the basis for a spatial analysis of evolving cultural patterns and attitudes toward water use and management in this time and place. Ultimately, Lane shows that modernist water policy both reflected and helped construct a racialized understanding of scientific expertise and in the process legitimized the dispossession of Indigenous and Nuevomexicano communities throughout the Rio Grande watershed

The SAGE Handbook of the 21st Century City Suzanne Hall, Ricky Burdett, 2017-10-16 The SAGE Handbook of the 21st Century City focuses on the dynamics and disruptions of the contemporary city in relation to capricious processes of global urbanisation, mutation and resistance. An international range of scholars engage with emerging urban conditions and inequalities in experimental ways speaking to new ideas of what constitutes the urban, highlighting empirical explorations and expanding on contributions to policy and design. The handbook is organised around nine key themes through which familiar analytic categories of race, gender and class as well as binaries such as the urban/rural are readdressed. These thematic sections together capture the volatile processes and intricacies of urbanisation that reveal the turbulent nature of our early twenty-first century. Hierarchy, Elites and Evictions, Productivity, Overinvestment and Abandonment, Authority, Governance and Mobilisations, Volatility, Disruption and Adaptation, Conflict, Vulnerability and Insurgency, Provisionality, Infrastructure and Incrementalism, Mobility, Rebordering and Debordering, Civility, Contestation and Encounter, Design, Speculation and Imagination. This is a provocative interdisciplinary handbook for all academics and researchers interested in contemporary urban studies

Environment and Planning, 2009

Assembling and Governing Habits Tony Bennett, Ben Dibley, Gay Hawkins, Greg Noble, 2021-07-22 The increasing significance of managing or changing habits is evident across a range of pressing contemporary issues: climate change, waste management, travel practices and crowd control. Assembling and Governing Habits engages with the diverse ways in which habits are governed through the knowledge practices and technologies that have been brought to bear on them. The volume addresses three main concerns. The first focuses on how the habit discourses proposed by a range of disciplines have informed the ways in which different forms of expertise have shaped the ways in which habits have been managed or changed to bring about specific social objectives. The second concerns the ways in which habits are acted on as aspects of infrastructures which constitute the interfaces through which technical systems human conducts and environments are acted on simultaneously The third concerns the specific ways in which habit discourses and habit infrastructures are brought together in the regulation of city habits that is habits which have specific qualities arising out of the specific conditions the rhythms and densities of urban life and ones which in the wake of the COVID 19 pandemic have been profoundly disrupted Written in a clear and direct style the book will appeal to students and scholars with an interest in cultural studies sociology cultural geography history of the sciences and posthuman studies
