Economics of South African Townships

Sandeep Mahajan, 2014-08-25 Countries everywhere are divided within into two distinct spatial realms one urban one rural. Classic models of development predict faster growth in the urban sector causing rapid migration from rural areas to cities lifting average incomes in both places. The situation in South Africa throws up an unconventional challenge. The country has symptoms of a spatial realm that is not not rural not fully urban lying somewhat in limbo. This is the realm of the country's townships and informal settlements. T IS In many ways the townships and especially the informal settlements are similar to developing world slums although never was a slum formed with as much central planning and purpose as were some of the larger South African townships. And yet there is something distinct about the T IS. For one thing unlike most urban slums most T IS are geographically distant from urban economic centers. Exacerbated by the near absence of an affordable public transport system this makes job seeking and other forms of economic integration prohibitively expensive. Motivated by their uniqueness and their special place in South African economic and social life this study seeks to develop a systematic understanding of the structure of the township economy What emerges is a rich information base on the migration patterns to T IS changes in their demographic profiles their labor market characteristics and their access to public and financial services The study then look closely at Diepsloot a large township in the Johannesburg Metropolitan Area to bring out more vividly the economic realities and choices of township residents Given the current dichotomous urban structure modernizing the township economy and enabling its convergence with the much richer urban centers has the potential to unleash significant productivity gains Breaking out of the current low level equilibrium however will require a comprehensive and holistic policy agenda with significant complementarities among the major policy reforms While the study tells a rich and coherent story about development patterns in South African townships and points to some broad policy directions its research and analysis will generally need to be deepened before being translated into direct policy action Research in Education ,1971 New Art and Science of Classroom Assessment Robert J. Marzano,Jennifer S. Norford,Mike Ruyle,2018-09-10 Part of The New Art and Science of Teaching series Shift to a new paradigm of classroom assessment that is more accurate meaningful and authentic The New Art and Science of Classroom Assessment explores the inadequacies of traditional assessment methods and details how to use classroom assessment to its full potential Step by step the authors outline a clear path for transitioning to more holistic assessment methods that truly reflect course curriculum and student progress Learn how you can develop authentic assessment for learning in the classroom Explore a new perspective on effective assessment for learning including classroom interim and year end assessments from formative assessment to summative assessment Learn how to create a curriculum that provides clear guidance as to what should be assessed Acquire strategies for assessing four general types of skills 1 cognitive skills 2 knowledge application skills 3 metacognitive skills and 4 general behavior skills Develop expertise with classroom assessment tools such as the types of declarative content selected response items and short constructed response questions Download free reproducible tables and checklists to assist in implementing new methods of assessment design A joint publication of ASCD and Solution Tree Contents Introduction Chapter 1 The Assessment Friendly Curriculum Chapter 2 Proficiency Scales Chapter 3 Parallel Assessments Chapter 4 The Measurement Process and Different Types of Assessment Chapter 5 Summative Scores Chapter 6 Non Subject Specific Skills Chapter 7 Record Keeping and Reporting Epilogue Appendix A Types of Declarative Content Appendix B Types of Test Response Items References and Resources Books in The New Art and Science of Teaching series The New Art and Science of Teaching The Handbook for the New Art and Science of Teaching The New Art and Science of Teaching Reading The New Art and Science of Teaching Writing The New Art and Science of Classroom Assessment Economics Education Steve Hodkinson,David Whitehead,1986 Teaching Beginning Guitar Class Bill Swick,2017-09-20 In one helpfully concise volume Teaching Beginning Guitar Class A Practical Guide provides the necessary tools to assist secondary music educators with the task of teaching beginning guitar in the classroom Connecting the Pieces Sarapage McCorkle,National
