Groundwater Quality Steven F. Thornton, Sascha E. Oswald, 2002      Wastewater Re-use and Groundwater Quality J. H. A. M. Steenvoorden, Theodore A. Endreny, 2004      Sustainability of Groundwater Resources and Its Indicators Bruce Webb, 2006      Natural Arsenic in Groundwater J. Bundschuh, P. Bhattacharya, D. Chandrasekharam, 2005-01-06 Arsenic contamination has become a global phenomenon With the development of advanced technological detection tools more geographical areas have been identified The people most affected are those in the poorer socio economic groups The research articles in this book have been contributed by scientists working in areas severely affected by arsenic

Permeable Reactive Barriers Genevieve A. Boshoff, Genevieve Boshoff, Brian D. Bone, 2005      Contaminants in the Subsurface National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Water Science and Technology Board, Committee on Source Removal of Contaminants in the Subsurface, 2005-04-23 At hundreds of thousands of commercial industrial and military sites across the country subsurface materials including groundwater are contaminated with chemical waste The last decade has seen growing interest in using aggressive source remediation technologies to remove contaminants from the subsurface but there is limited understanding of 1 the effectiveness of these technologies and 2 the overall effect of mass removal on groundwater quality This report reviews the suite of technologies available for source remediation and their ability to reach a variety of cleanup goals from meeting regulatory standards for groundwater to reducing costs The report proposes elements of a protocol for accomplishing source remediation that should enable project managers to decide whether and how to pursue source remediation at their sites

Geoenvironmental Engineering Raymond Nen Yong, Hywel R. Thomas, 2004-06-30 This new book contains the proceedings of the 4th Geoenvironmental Engineering Conference organised by the British Geotechnical Association and Cardiff University's School of Engineering held in Stratford Upon Avon in June 2004 The theme of the conference was Integrated Management of Groundwater and Contaminated Land This book is a compilation of peer reviewed papers grouped according to the sessions under which they were presented at the conference Issues associated with Geoenvironmental Engineering continue to be a major preoccupation for Governments public and private organisations and the general community around the world The conference brought together people working in industry academia and the public sector to discuss the latest ideas and developments in Geoenvironmental Engineering and related fields The papers in these proceedings reflect the work being undertaken across the discipline This volume is an indispensable source of information on current research and practice in the field of integrated management of groundwater and contaminated land

A New Focus on Groundwater-seawater Interactions Ward E. Sanford, International Association of Hydrological Sciences, 2007 An outcome of a symposium organised jointly by the IAHS International Commission on Groundwater and the International Association for the Physical Sciences of the Oceans IAPSO in 2007 this volume presents research by those working from the marine and terrestrial sides of the issues using a variety of approaches applied at locations worldwide

Together they form an important contribution to the literature Fundamentals of Site Remediation John Pichtel, 2019-07-31 This new edition discusses chemical and engineering principles as they apply to the cleanup and removal of hazardous chemicals from soil and groundwater There is emphasis on environmental chemistry soil science microbiology and plant science The first part of the book provides an overview of the recent history of environmental contamination and the formulation of relevant regulations for hazardous waste site remediation This part also provides a background for several salient aspects of site remediation e g soil science the site assessment process The second part of the book examines field remediation technologies including phytoremediation bioremediation and several chemical and physical technologies Theory of operation practical considerations and possible environmental impacts and other consequences of their use are discussed Covers both metal and hydrocarbon based contamination and remediation Many competitors only address one industry or source of contamination this title provides an overview of all of the sources Presents both the assessment of contaminated sites and the technologies currently available for environmental cleanup Effective for use in field situations and for academic i e university course use Two new chapters i the use of nanomaterials for remediation of contaminated soil and water and ii revegetation of severely disturbed sites Calibration and Reliability in Groundwater Modelling Karel Kovar, Zbyněk Hrkal, 2003 Delivery and Mixing in the Subsurface Peter K. Kitanidis, Perry L. McCarty, 2012-04-23 This volume is meant to provide the practitioner with information on the natural mixing processes occurring in aquifers as well as to describe basic strategies that can be implemented to enhance mixing in particular cases For example when it comes to mixing miscible liquids one can speed up mixing in the formation by manipulating the flow such as through the use of recirculation wells Furthermore much of the mixing can be achieved partially within recirculation wells themselves where contaminated water is admixed with additives volatile products may be removed through a vapor mass exchanger etc Thus adding mixing wells can significantly increase the performance of the delivery and mixing system and speed up the process of remediation Cutting Green Tape Roger Meiners, 2018-02-06 Hundreds of hazardous waste sites are on the Superfund National Priority List in the United States and thousands more could become eligible The Superfund has spent or ordered the spending of billions of dollars with little apparent impact on human health risks While public perception of the real or imagined hazardous nature of consumer and industrial substances has resulted in widespread attention to the issue lawsuits have proliferated with liability aimed at deep pockets instead of individual agents who may be responsible Contributors to Cutting Green Tape carefully examine the existence and severity of the toxic harms and liability problem the erosion of a clear tort legal system to settle disputes and whether a clearly defined system of property rights could be developed to reduce the dangers from toxic substances Cutting Green Tape rethinks the nature and impact of today's environmental bureaucracy Rather than continue unworkable cumbersome and often contradictory regulations Cutting Green Tape prescribes a clearer tort legal system to settle disputes and demonstrates that clearly defined environmental property rights would reduce the threat of toxic substances Among the many topics addressed are air toxins policy pollution damages and tort law risk assessment insurance and public information protecting groundwater regulation of carcinogens contracting for health and safety and toxin torts by government The book converges on a central theme when common law remedies with their burden of proof and standards of evidence are replaced by the legislatively mandated regulatory regimes described a problem emerges The bureaucratic tunnel vision described by Justice Stephen Breyer tends to take over The police powers of the state are given to bureaucratic decision makers who are limited only by the blunt instrument of political influence rather than by the need to show harm or wrongdoing in an unbiased court as the police are or by a budget on expenditures set by the Congress as most bureaus are The excesses described in the chapters thus result not from incompetence in the bureaus but from the expansive powers granted to decision makers who are tightly focused on the narrow mission they see before them
