Growth Triumphant Richard A. Easterlin, 2009-11-10 Taking a longer view than most literature on economic development Richard A Easterlin stresses the enormous contrast between the collective experience of the last half century in both developed and developing countries and what has gone before An economic historian and demographer the author writes in the tradition of the new economic history drawing on economic theory and quantitative evidence to interpret the historical experience of economic theory and population growth He reaches beyond the usual disciplinary limits to draw as appropriate on sociology political science psychology anthropology and the history of science The book will be of interest not only to social scientists but to all readers concerned with where we have been and where we are going Easterlin is both an economic historian and a demographer and it is the combination of these two disciplines and the fine balance between theory and experience that make this well written refreshingly optimistic book excellent reading Population and Development Review In this masterful synthesis Richard Easterlin draws on the disciplines of economic history demography sociology political science psychology and the history of science to present an integrated explation of the origins of modern economic growth and of the mortality revolution His book should be easily accessible to non specialists and will give them a sense of why economic history can inform our understanding of the future Dora L Costa Massachusetts Institute of Technology EH Net and H Net Growth Triumphant is simply a fascinating book Easterlin has woven together a history of economic growth economic development human mortality and morbidity the connections each has with the others and the implications of this nexus of forces on the future This book deserves a wide audience Choice In what must surely be the most fair minded well balanced and scrupulously reasoned and researched book on the sensational subjects implied in its title the Industrial Revolution the mortality and fertility revolutions and the prospects for future happiness for the human race Professor Easterlin has set in place the capstone of his research career Journal of Economic History Richard A Easterlin is Professor of Economics University of Southern California      Increasing Returns and Path Dependence in the Economy W. The Cult of Statistical Significance Deirdre Nansen McCloskey, Steve Ziliak, 2010-02-11 McCloskey and Ziliak have been pushing this very elementary very correct very important argument through several articles over several years and for reasons I cannot fathom it is still resisted If it takes a book to get it across I hope this book will do it It ought to Thomas Schelling Distinguished University Professor School of Public Policy University of Maryland and 2005 Nobel Prize Laureate in Economics With humor insight piercing logic and a nod to history Ziliak and McCloskey show how economists and other scientists suffer from a mass delusion about statistical analysis The quest for statistical significance that pervades science today is a deeply flawed substitute for thoughtful analysis Yet few participants in the scientific bureaucracy have been willing to admit what Ziliak and McCloskey make clear the emperor has no clothes Kenneth Rothman Professor of Epidemiology Boston University School of Health The Cult of Statistical Significance shows field by field how statistical significance a technique that dominates many sciences has been a huge mistake The authors find that researchers in a broad spectrum of fields from agronomy to zoology employ testing that doesn't test and estimating that doesn't estimate The facts will startle the outside reader how could a group of brilliant scientists wander so far from scientific magnitudes This study will encourage scientists who want to know how to get the statistical sciences back on track and fulfill their quantitative promise The book shows for the first time how wide the disaster is and how bad for science and it traces the problem to its historical sociological and philosophical roots Stephen T Ziliak is the author or editor of many articles and two books He currently lives in Chicago where he is Professor of Economics at Roosevelt University Deirdre N McCloskey Distinguished Professor of Economics History English and Communication at the University of Illinois at Chicago is the author of twenty books and three hundred scholarly articles She has held Guggenheim and National Humanities Fellowships She is best known for How to Be Human Though an Economist University of Michigan Press 2000 and her most recent book The Bourgeois Virtues Ethics for an Age of Commerce 2006 Institutions and Economic Theory Eirik G.
