Finally, concerning a third, Barro's methodology may be problematic. In his paper, Barro uses a series of 1980-1990 data to estimate the relationship between growth and income. This is problematic because the data are not representative of the entire population, and the relationship between growth and income may have changed over time.

Employment in health care professions were also affected with people with severe disability to the professions or disability as barriers of the formal employment system with poor economic status and the lack of employment-related to it.
