Curriculum and Teaching Dialogue David J. Flinders,P. Bruce Uhrmacher,2012-12-01 Curriculum and Teaching Dialogue CTD is a publication of the American Association of Teaching and Curriculum AATC a national learned society for the scholarly field of teaching and curriculum The field includes those working on the theory design and evaluation of educational programs at large At the university level faculty members identified with this field are typically affiliated with the departments of curriculum and instruction teacher education educational foundations elementary education secondary education and higher education CTD promotes all analytical and interpretive approaches that are appropriate for the scholarly study of teaching and curriculum In fulfillment of this mission CTD addresses a range of issues across the broad fields of educational research and policy for all grade levels and types of educational programs World Language Education as Critical Pedagogy Timothy G. Reagan,Terry A. Osborn,2020-09-02 Accessible and cutting edge this text is a pivotal update to the field and offers a much needed critical perspective on world language education Building off their classic 2002 book The Foreign Language Educator in Society Timothy G Reagan and Terry A Osborn address major issues facing the world language educator today including language myths advocacy the perceived and real benefits of language learning linguistic human rights constructivism learning theories language standards monolingualism bilingualism and multiculturalism Organized into three parts Knowing Language Learning Language and Teaching Language this book applies a critical take on conventional wisdom on language education evaluates social and political realities assumptions and controversies in the field Each chapter includes questions for reflection and discussion to support students and educators in developing their own perspectives on teaching and learning languages With a critical pedagogy and social justice lens this book is ideal for scholars and students in foreign world language education social justice education and language teaching methodology courses as well as pre and in service teachers The Second Time Around □ Minimalism and L2 Acquisition

Julia Herschensohn, 2000-02-15 Linking recent advances in theoretical syntax and empirical research in language development the book claims that second language acquisition is not totally distinct from first language acquisition but rather is a replay a relearning of language It argues that Universal Grammar is a template guiding acquisition of L1 while constraining acquisition of L2 Assuming that a syntactic distinction crucial for language and its acquisition is the division between lexical and functional categories it argues that the key to L2 as well as L1 acquisition of syntax is the mastery of morphological features and their linking to functional categories It thus supports the availability of UG to the second language learner and the minimalist claim that cross linguistic variation is morpholexical Constructionism the hypothesis of L2A proposed in this account argues for a period of feature underspecification after loss of the L1 value followed by a progressive building of the L2 value through specific constructions Language and Literacy Teaching for Indigenous Education

Norbert Francis, Jon Allan Reyhner, 2002-01-01 Language and Literacy Teaching for Indigenous Education A Bilingual Approach presents a proposal for the inclusion of indigenous languages in the classroom Based on extensive research and field work by the authors in communities in the United States and Mexico the book explores ways in which the cultural and linguistic resources of indigenous communities can enrich the language and literacy program Teacher

Training and Effective Pedagogy in the Context of Student Diversity Liliana Minaya-Rowe, 2002-06-01 The purpose of this volume is two fold First the book attempts to initiate a research based dialogue from a variety of perspectives specifically about teacher training and teaching in the context of student linguistic and cultural diversity and second to cast a wide net over three major areas of professional development that have the potential to impact on teacher quality and on the educational services provided to ELLs at all levels of instruction This book represents a first attempt to a quiet revolution going on in teacher education Johnson 2000 It allows the reader to uncover research activities and experiences that constitute individual teacher education program initiatives A revolution because it is stirring the very essence of what stands at the core of teacher education a core that has long been based more on training to teach monolingual English speaking students and less on teaching ELLs their first and second language development using their bilingualism to teach academics and on the process of becoming an effective teacher of ELLs This state of the art review brings together research on effective pedagogy and teacher training The nine feature chapters are directly concerned with effective new structures and practices for professional development and are presented in a framework that considers a wide spectrum of topics to address issues such as what teachers need to understand about English language learners what kind of professional experiences are likely to facilitate those understandings and what kinds of teacher education programs and school settings are able to support their ongoing learning The authors also discuss the implications of their work for helping English language learners connect and benefit from school from the points of view of 1 school reform 2 teachers bilingual proficiencies 3 teachers knowledge and beliefs and 4 teacher training programming and sustainability Proceedings of the Second International Conference on the
