Phye,1997-01-08 The Handbook of Academic Learning provides a comprehensive resource for educational and cognitive psychologists as well as educators themselves on the mechanisms and processes of academic learning Beginning with general themes that cross subject and age level the book discusses what motivates students to learn and how knowledge can be made personal for better learning and remembering Individual chapters identify proven effective teaching methods for the specific domains of math reading writing science and critical problem solving how students learn within those domains and how learning can be accurately assessed for given domains and age levels The Handbook takes a constructivist perspective to academic learning emphasizing the construction of personal knowledge of an academic nature Constructivism within the context of learning theory is viewed as involving an active learner that constructs an academic knowledge base through the development of cognitive strategies and metacognition The book discusses the development of basic literacy skills that provide the foundation for higher order thinking and problem solving Constructivism recognizes the social dimension of classroom learning and emphasizes the motivational elements of self regulation and volition as essential learner characteristics Written by authors who have first hand experience with both theory development and the development of authentic classroom instructional techniques the Handbook empowers educators to develop implement and field test authentic instructional practices at their school site The book provides a review of the literature theory research and skill techniques for effective teaching and learning Identifies effective teaching with specific techniques Covers elementary school through high school Discusses teaching methods for all main subject areas reading writing math science and critical thinking Identifies how students learn to learn Reviews theory research techniques and assessment Contains field tested examples for the educational professional at the school site Provides a resource for staff development      The United States Catalog ,1928      Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1993      Making it tangible. Learning outcomes in science education Sascha Bernholt,Knut Neumann,Peter Nentwig,2012 One of the central features in current educational reforms is a focus on learning outcomes Many countries have established or revised standards to describe what teachers are supposed to teach and students are expected to learn More recently the emphasis has shifted to considerations of how standards can be operationalized in order to make the outcomes of educational efforts more tangible This book is the result of a symposium held in Kiel that was arranged by two science education groups one at the IPN Leibniz Institute for Science and Mathematics Education at the University of Kiel in Germany and the other at the University of York UK The seminar brought together renowned experts from 12 countries with different notions of the nature and quality of learning outcomes The aim was to clarify central conceptions and approaches for a better understanding among the international science education community The book is divided into five parts In Part A the organizers set the scene describing the rationale for arranging the symposium Part B provides a broad overview about different approaches challenges and pitfalls on the road to the clarification of meaningful and fruitful learning outcomes The set of papers in Part C provides deep insights into different although comparable approaches which aim to frame to assess and to promote learning and learning outcomes in science education Smaller projects are presented as well as broad coordinated national programs The papers in Part D outline the individual historical development from different national perspectives reflecting the deficits and problems that led to current reforms Finally a summary of the organizers analyses the conclusions from different vantage points
