Sandro Botticelli Yukio Yashiro,1925 Early Modern Medievalisms ,2010-09-24 Modernity has historically defined itself by relation to classical antiquity on the one hand and the medieval on the other While early modernity's relation to Antiquity has been amply documented its relation to the medieval has been less studied This volume seeks to address this omission by presenting some preliminary explorations of this field In seventeen essays ranging from the Italian Renaissance to Enlightenment France it focuses on three main themes continuities and discontinuities between the medieval and early modern early modern re uses of medieval matter and conceptualizations of the medieval Collectively the essays illustrate how early modern medievalisms differ in important respects from post Romantic views of the medieval ultimately calling for a re definition of the concept of medievalism itself Contributors include Mette Bruun Peter Damian Grint Anne Marie De Gendt Daphne Hoogenboezem Tiphaine Karsenti Joost Keizer Waldemar Kowalski Elena Lombardi Coen Maas Pieter Mannaerts Christoph Pieper Jacomien Prins Adam Shear Paul Smith Martin Spies Andrea Worm and Aur lie Zygel Basso Constance Fenimore Woolson's Subversive Politics Victoria Brehm,2023-05-22 This seminal study reveals how Constance Fenimore Woolson participated in debates on nineteenth century political topics considered the province of men She commented on the most important issues of her time monetary policy post Reconstruction legal decisions racial justice and interracial marriage women's rights religious hypocrisy environmental destruction destabilizing international developments and the moral character of the nation The innovative essays in this book introduce her techniques and the political concerns that inspired her complicated art encouraging scholars to begin the process of rereading and reanalyzing Woolson's oeuvre to understand the compelling allegories and satires she created The oppositional intertextual and referential techniques she developed allowed her to enter contested political conversations about compelling nineteenth century problems like few women of her century sometimes making her work political commentary as much as fiction Evelyn & William De Morgan Margareta S. Gold Brocade and Renaissance Painting Rembrandt Duits, 2006-12-31
Rembrandt Duits completed his PhD at the University of Utrecht and works at the Photographic Collection of the Warburg Institute where he also teaches Renaissance material culture His thesis Gold Brocade and Renaissance Painting won the Karel van Mander Prijs for the best publication on art between 1500 and 1800 Gold Brocade and Renaissance Painting discusses the representation of Italian Renaissance patterned silks in paintings from Italy and the Southern Netherlands from the 14th to the 16th century It is the first study to approach this subject from the perspective of material culture attempting to answer such questions as why the subject of luxury textiles gained so great a popularity in Renaissance painting how artists catered for an audience that desired to have gold brocades depicted but did not always possess the financial means to own the actual fabrics and what the skills artists developed in this field contributed to the rising social status of the medium of painting The material culture of the grand courts at which real gold brocade played an essential role in the display of wealth and status is compared to that of the socially ambitious but less affluent middle class for whom paintings were often the only affordable substitute for courtly splendour Thus the book also addresses the problem of the distinction between fact and fiction imagination and reality in the account of contemporary social history presented in paintings

Proust's Gods Margaret Topping, 2000 Proust's Gods explores two interweaving networks of imagery which are vital to key thematic areas of Proust's fictional construct These are Christian and biblical and classical and mythological figures of speech Proust's metaphorical vision plucks legends and figures drawn from these sources out of their original settings and thrusts them with all their persistent resonances into new and often unlikely contexts Yet these deliberately incongruous juxtapositions and the sliding scale of tones they produce are also strangely apt and amongst the richest sources of humorous effects in the novel The study also analyses the increasing sophistication of Proust's imagery from his earliest writings onwards and re-evaluates the role of the largely ignored Correspondance in his development as a writer Considered as texts rather than biographical documents the letters are identified as a flexible stylistic stamping ground and an arena for experimentation for later works

Andrew Hui, Associate Professor of Humanities (Literature) Andrew Hui, 2024-12-03 With the advent of the printing press in Europe the possibility of assembling a personal library became more and more attainable for the cultural elite In this book Andrew Hui traces the historical development of the Renaissance studiolo a personal study and library from Petrarch to Montaigne considering literary representations of the studiolo in Rabelais Cervantes Shakespeare and Marlowe as well as its presence in the visual arts He explores the ways in which Renaissance writers and scholars engaged with these personal libraries both real and imaginary as places for research and refuge and the impact of their legacy on writers of our own age such as Jorge Luis Borges and Italo Calvino Hui is interested in how these workspaces shaped the interior lives of their occupants and how the bookish sanctuary they offered was cast as both a remedy and a poison for the soul Painters of the period for example depicted such Biblical figures as the Virgin Mary and St Jerome in studies surrounded by books and some writers extolled the studiolo as a space for salutary self reflection But other writers suggested that too much time spent reading and amassing books could lead to bibliomania it drove Don Quixote to madness Faustus to perdition Prospero to exile

Individual chapters focus on the invention of the studiolo as seen through Federico da Montefeltro's Gubbio Studiolo and Raphael's School of Athens. Rabelais's parodies of erudition and classification, the transformation of private study into self-conscious spectacle in The Tempest and more. While primarily drawing on works from Renaissance Europe, the chapters range across time and geography, incorporating a more global and comparative approach by drawing on texts from the classical tradition of China. Throughout the book, Hui weaves in accounts of his own life with books and libraries, arguing that to study the history of reading, scholars must also become aware of their own history of readings.
