Hard Labour The Forgotten Voices Of Latvian Migrant Volunteer Workers Ucl S:

Hard Labour: The Forgotten Voices of Latvian Migrant 'Volunteer' Workers Linda McDowell, 2013-09-05 Although the Second World War ended sixty years ago there are still untold stories waiting to be heard stories not only of diplomats and soldiers but also of refugees camp inmates and ordinary people living in occupied territories stories of women's and children's lives as well as those of men In Hard Labour the forgotten voices of a group of young women who left Latvia in 1944 are captured telling the story of their flight from the advancing Soviet Army their difficult journeys across central Europe their lives as displaced people in Allied camps in Germany and finally their refuge in Britain Hard work is at the centre of these stories as the women became volunteer workers first for the Nazi war effort and then as labourers in the British post war reconstruction plan In what has been described as a venomous postscript to the War the fit and able amongst the vast homeless and often stateless population that fetched up in camps run by the Allies in war devastated Germany were recruited by western states as labourers Great Britain was the first nation to recruit displaced persons offering jobs in hospitals and private homes as domestic workers and in the textile industry to young single women and later men from Latvia Lithuania and Estonia and other once independent states Many of these women spent the rest of their lives in Britain longing to return to their homelands but independence came too late for many of them At the centre of Hard Labour are the lives of twenty five now elderly Latvia women who came to Britain between 1946 and 1949 Their memories are placed in the context of recent work in feminist history illuminating debates about displacement and loss as well as the transformation of women's lives in post war Britain

Migrant Women's Voices Linda McDowell, 2016-02-25 Between 1945 and the new century millions of women including mothers and migrants joined the labour force These changes are brought to life through the stories of migrant women working in factories and hospitals banks care homes shops and universities over a period of 60 years Migrant Women's Voices is an autobiography of the post war period as Britain became a multi cultural society and waged work the norm for most women McDowell illustrates the shift in migration patterns as post imperial migrants to the UK replaced the immediate post war pattern of migrants from war torn Europe and who were then themselves joined by migrants from an increasingly diverse range of countries as the 20th century drew to a close

The Role of Informal Economies in the Post-Soviet World Colin C. Williams, John Round, Peter Rodgers, 2013-06-19 Based on extensive ethnographic and quantitative research conducted in Ukraine and Russia between 2004 and 2012 this book's central argument is that for many people the informal economy such as cash in hand work subsistence production and the use of social networks is of great importance to everyday life Formal work is both a facilitator of such processes and is often supported by them as people can only afford to undertake low paid formal work as a result of their informal incomes By looking at the informal nature of formal work and practices informal practices gift giving volunteer work and the economies of the household the book is one of the first to give an overview of the nature of the informal economy in all spheres of everyday practice

Postwar Migration Policy and the Displaced of the British Zone in Germany, 1945-1951 Imogen Bayley, 2024-11-08 This book examines the experiences of refugees who populated the Displaced Persons DP camps in the British Zone of Allied occupied Germany after the Second World War With a specific focus on Polish and Jewish communities it explores the interaction between migration policy and the migration strategy of refugees or in other words the relationship between DP policy and individual choices and how these evolved over time The book aims to harmonize often contradictory images of displaced persons in the British Zone of occupation by taking a comparative approach and analysing conflicting identifications and state individual relations Drawing on the records of the International Tracing Service refugee memoirs DP publications distributed in the camps themselves and personal petitions and correspondences the author sheds light on the experiences of displaced persons and illustrates the difficulty of making clear cut distinctions between forced and voluntary migration Today as in the post war period refugees access to social rights and welfare settlement rights and the possibility of family reunification can all be determined by the same labels that were so fiercely contested after 1945 A dichotomy between so called economic and political migration endures and many claims to asylum are today rejected on the grounds of applicants not being formally recognized as genuine refugees and recipients of aid This book therefore adds to our growing understanding of the plight of refugees and the need to ensure access to justice for all through the ongoing building of an effective accountable and inclusive refugee regime liberalism As an Equal? Rosie Cox, Nicky Busch, 2018-11-15 Au pairs are relied upon by tens of thousands of UK families to do everything from childcare and housework to elder care pet feeding and waiting at dinner parties Traditionally thought of as privileged and well educated young women having fun on a gap year abroad au pairs have been excluded from many of the recent discussions on migrant domestic labour However since 2008 au pairing has been effectively unregulated in the UK and the result is that au pairs now constitute one of the poorest paid and least protected groups of workers Through an examination of lived experiences As an Equal draws on detailed research to examine au pairs and the families who host them in contemporary Britain revealing au pairing to have become increasingly indistinguishable from other forms of domestic labour Crucially hosting an au pair is shown to form part of families attempts to provide good enough childcare in the context of extended working hours and poor public childcare provision This increased reliance of families on an exploited workforce is shown to form part of the wider political climate of economic austerity and raises profound questions about the position of women within the neoliberal economy 'Race', Culture and the Right to the City Gareth Millington, 2011-10-27 Adopting a perspective inspired by Henri Lefebvre this book considers the spread of multiculturalism from the central city to the periphery and considers the role that race continues to play in structuring the metropolis taking London New York and Paris as examples New Lives, New Landscapes Revisited Linda M. Ross, Katrina Navickas, Ben Anderson, Matthew Kelly, 2023-06-08 How did rural Britain become modern during the twentieth century New Lives New Landscapes examines how the development of modern infrastructure in Britain transformed both its landscapes and the lives of those who lived within them Shifting the focus away from the city the narrative challenges us to rethink what we mean by modern Britain Global Cities At Work Jane Wills, Kavita Datta, Yara Evans, Joanna Herbert, Jon May, Cathy McIlwaine, 2009-12-31 This book is about the people who always get taken for granted The people who clean our offices and trains care for our elders and change the sheets on the bed Global Cities at Work draws on testimony collected from more than 800 foreign born workers employed in low paid jobs in London during the early years of the twenty first century This book breaks new ground in linking London's new migrant division of labour to the twin processes of subcontracting and increased international migration that have been central to contemporary processes of globalisation It also raises the level of debate about migrant labour encouraging us to look behind the headlines The authors ask us to take a politically informed view of our urban labour markets and to prioritise the issue of poverty in underemployed communities Us and Them? Bridget Anderson, 2013-03-21 Us and Them explores the distinction between migrant and citizen through using the concept of the community of value The challenges of migration go to the heart of equality rights freedom and membership These are not only matters for migrants but go to the heart of citizens politics Regimes of Mobility Noel Salazar, Nina Glick Schiller, 2016-08-25 Mobility studies emerged from a postmodern moment in which global flows of capital people and objects were increasingly noted and celebrated Within this new scholarship categories of migrancy are all seen through the same analytical lens This book builds on as well as critiques past and present studies of mobility In so doing it challenges conceptual orientations built on binaries of difference that have impeded analyses of the interrelationship between mobility and stasis These include methodological nationalism which counterpoises concepts of internal and international movement and native and foreigner and consequently normalises stasis Instead the book proposes a regimes of mobility framework that addresses the relationships between mobility and immobility localisation and transnational connection experiences and imaginaries of migration and rootedness and cosmopolitan openness Within this framework and its emphasis on social fields of differential power the various contributors to this collection ethnographically explore the disparities inequalities racialised representations and national mythscapes that facilitate and legitimate differential mobility and fixity Although they examine nation state building processes the anthropological analysis is not confined by national boundaries This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies
