

Happiness Education

This edited collection challenges the common preoccupation with knowledge acquisition and academic achievement by comparing the aims and cultural beliefs which drive education in different countries throughout the world.

Through case studies from countries in Asia, Latin America, Africa, and Europe, the authors present how education can be approached holistically to foster student happiness and well-being. The book illustrates wide-ranging interpretations of what it means to provide a "good education," and how student-centered, holistic approaches to learning can be effective in promoting creativity, tolerance, student well-being, and an appreciation of environmental and societal responsibilities. Based on rigorous mixed-method empirical research, it highlights how the integration of happiness in education can not only enhance academic excellence but can also have a positive impact on the students' overall well-being.

This cutting-edge book focuses on the holistic development and well-being of students and will be a relevant reading for educators, researchers, and students in such diverse fields as psychology, the sociology and philosophy of education, intercultural education, education policy and politics, leadership/management, mental health, and international and comparative education.

The End of the Rainbow Susan Engel, 2015-02-03 Amid the hype of Race to the Top online experiments such as Khan Academy and bestselling books like The Sandbox Investment we seem to have drawn a line that leads from nursery school along a purely economic route with money as the final stop But what price do we all pay for the increasingly singular focus on wage as the outcome of education Susan Engel a leading psychologist and educator argues that this economic framework has had a profound impact not only on the way we think about education but also on what happens inside school buildings The End of the Rainbow asks what would happen if we changed the implicit goal of education and imagines how different things would be if we made happiness rather than money the graduation prize Drawing on psychology education theory and a broad range of classroom experiences across the country Engel offers a fascinating alternative view of what education might become teaching children to read books for pleasure and self expansion and encouraging collaboration All of these new skills she argues would not only cultivate future success in the world of work but also would make society as a whole a better happier place Accessible to parents and teachers alike The End of the Rainbow will be the beginning of a new more vibrant public conversation about what the future of American education should look like Life and Moral Education in Greater China John Chi-Kin Lee, Stephen Yam-wing Yip, Raymond Ho-Man Kong, 2021-03-29 Arguing for life moral and values education as a bedrock for the original goals of school education this monograph explores how life and values education is conceptualised and imparted in Greater China Under a globalized transnational and technological world where there has been an increase in people's mobility in information and cultural exchanges there is also a growing emphasis on personal and professional ethics Against this context life moral and values education has gained attention for its impact on shaping students characters as future citizens However the cultivation of these values is made deeply diversified and complex by varying interpretations of life education and values education across societies given that different societies are influenced by different socio cultural traditions educational ideologies and religious beliefs The means and approaches towards life
