Landscape with Figures Richard Jefferies, 2013-08-01 Richard Jefferies was the most imaginative and least conventional of nineteenth century observers of the natural world Trekking across the English countryside he recorded his responses to everything from the texture of an owl's feather and noises in the air to the grinding hardship of rural labour This superb selection of his essays and articles shows a writer who is brimming with intense feeling acutely aware of the land and those who work on it and often ambivalent about the countryside Who does it belong to Is it a place an experience or a way of life In these passionate and idiosyncratic writings almost all our current ideas and concerns about rural life can be found Richard Jefferies 1848-1887 was the son of a Wiltshire farmer He never worked the land but made his living from writing trekking across the countryside with his notebook He spent much of his life struggling against poverty and tuberculosis which would eventually kill him at the age of thirty nine As well as being in many ways the father of English nature writing Jefferies also wrote the classic children's book Bevis and the apocalyptic science fiction novel After London Richard Mabey's introduction to his selection of Jefferies work discusses the author's life his views on the paradoxes of rural life and his place in the tradition of nature writers
