Discourse, Politics and Media in Contemporary China Qing Cao, Hailong Tian, Paul Chilton, 2014-04-23 After three and a half decades of economic reforms radical changes have occurred in all aspects of life in China In an authoritarian society these changes are mediated significantly through the power of language carefully controlled by the political elites Discourse as a way of speaking and doing things has become an indispensable instrument for the authority to manage a fluid increasingly fragmented but highly dynamic and yet fragile society Written by an international team of leading scholars this volume examines socio political transformations of contemporary Chinese society through a systematic account analysis and assessment of its salient discourses and their production circulation negotiation and consequences In particular the volume focuses on the interplay of politics and media The book's intended readership is academics and students of Chinese studies language and discourse and media and communication studies

Language, Media and Globalization in the Periphery Sender Dovchin, 2018-05-11 The title seeks to show how people are embedded culturally socially and linguistically in a certain peripheral geographical location yet are also able to roam widely in their use and takeup of a variety of linguistic and cultural resources Drawing on data examples obtained from ethnographic fieldwork trips in Mongolia a country located geographically politically and economically on the Asian periphery this book presents an example of how peripheral contexts should be seen as crucial sites for understanding the current sociolinguistics of globalization Dovchin brings together several themes of wide contemporary interest including sociolinguistic diversity in the context of popular culture and media in a globalized world with a particular focus on popular music and transnational flows of linguistic and cultural resources to argue that the role of English and other languages in the local language practices of young musicians in Mongolia should be understood as linguascapes This notion of linguascapes adds new levels of analysis to common approaches to sociolinguistics of globalization offering researchers new complex perspectives of linguistic diversity in the increasingly globalized world

A Critical Hypertext Analysis of Social Media Volker Eisenlauer, 2013-08-15 Facebook in just a few years has become one of the central tools people use to communicate with each other in everyday life However the perceived freedom of action on the site and the actual processes that are permitted in Facebook's set up don't always match up in this book this gap is examined This book identifies the interrelations between user text actions and the software environment framing them It takes a critical perspective on Facebook and develops a model that grants methodological access to complex interlaced practices incorporating media text and literacies It shows Facebook users employing idiosyncratic and Facebook specific literacy practices and gives weight to the larger hypothesis of the software service as an ideological setting designed to calculate and standardize human behaviour Specifically the book examines text action and automation within Facebook to determine how the software service intervenes in the communicative flow between among profile owners and profile recipients This is cutting edge work and of huge importance to modern fields of discourse analysis and computer mediated communication
