Contact and the Origins of the Germanic Languages Peter Schrijver,2013-12-04 History archaeology and human evolutionary genetics provide us with an increasingly detailed view of the origins and development of the peoples that live in Northwestern Europe This book aims to restore the key position of historical linguistics in this debate by treating the history of the Germanic languages as a history of its speakers It focuses on the role that language contact has played in creating the Germanic languages between the first millennium BC and the crucially important early medieval period Chapters on the origins of English German Dutch and the Germanic language family as a whole illustrate how the history of the sounds of these languages provide a key that unlocks the secret of their genesis speakers of Latin Celtic and Balto Finnic switched to speaking Germanic and in the process introduced a foreign accent that caught on and spread at the expense of types of Germanic that were not affected by foreign influence The book is aimed at linguists historians archaeologists and anyone who is interested in what languages can tell us about the origins of their speakers The Cambridge Handbook of Areal Linguistics Raymond Hickey, 2017-04-20 Providing a contemporary and comprehensive look at the topical area of areal linguistics this book looks systematically at different regions of the world whilst presenting a focussed and informed overview of the theory behind research into areal linguistics and language contact The topicality of areal linguistics is thoroughly documented by a wealth of case studies from all major regions of the world and with chapters from scholars with a broad spectrum of language expertise it offers insights into the mechanisms of external language change With no book currently like this on the market The Cambridge Handbook of Areal Linguistics will be welcomed by students and scholars working on the history of language families documentation and classification and will help readers to understand the key area of areal linguistics within a broader linguistic context Native Peoples of the World Steven L. Danver, 2015-03-10 This work examines the world's indigenous peoples their cultures the countries in which they reside and the issues that impact these groups The Languages and Linguistics of Europe Bernd Kortmann, Johan van der Auwera, 2011-07-27 Open publication The Languages and Linguistics of Europe A Comprehensive Guide is part of the multi volume reference work on the languages and linguistics of the continents of the world The book supplies profiles of the language families of Europe including the sign languages It also discusses the areal typology paying attention to the Standard Average European Balkan Baltic and Mediterranean convergence areas Separate chapters deal with the old and new minority languages and with non standard varieties A major focus is language politics and policies including discussions of the special status of English the relation between language and the church language and the school and standardization The history of European linguistics is another focus as is the history of multilingual European empires and their dissolution The volume is especially geared towards a graduate and advanced undergraduate readership It has been designed such that it can be used as a whole or in parts as a textbook the first of its kind for graduate programmes with a focus on the linguistic and linguistics landscape of Europe Language Contact. Volume 2 Jeroen Darquennes, Joseph C. Salmons, Wim Vandebussche, 2025-04-21 Targeting a full range of students and scholars this volume provides a total of 50 chapters illustrating the linguistic dynamics and the dynamics of inter individual and societal language contact as well as the dynamics of multidisciplinary language contact studies Fueled by a wealth of data from a rich variety of contact situations its geographically balanced case studies are governed by the triangulation between a focus on language structure and change a sincere drive of sociopolitical and academic agency and the confrontation with an everyday reality that can be unkind to and ignorant of those two factors The volume clearly demonstrates the social relevance of our trade in a time burdened with ecolinguistic challenges Local Language, Literacy and Multilingualism in a West African Society Kasper Juffermans, 2015-09-14 This book aims to enhance and challenge our understanding of language and literacy as social practice against the background of heightened globalisation Juffermans presents an ethnographic study of the linguistic landscape of The Gambia arguing that language should be conceptualised as a verb languaging rather than a countable noun a language languages He goes on to argue that sociolinguistics should not be defined as the study of who speaks what language to whom and when and to what end as Fishman defined it but as the study of who uses which linguistic features under particular circumstances in a particular place and time The book is therefore in part an exercise to unpluralise language which Juffermans argues is necessary for a more realistic understanding of what language is what it does and what people do with it The book will be of interest to sociolinguistics researchers especially those focusing on Africa and the global South
