Learning context effects Carmen Pérez Vidal, Sonia López-Serrano, Jennifer Ament, Dakota J. Thomas-Wilhelm, 2018 This book deals with the effects of three different learning contexts mainly on adult but also on adolescent learners language acquisition The three contexts brought together in the monograph include i a conventional instructed second language acquisition ISLA environment in which learners receive formal instruction in English as a Foreign Language EFL ii a Study Abroad SA context which learners experience during mobility programmes when the target language is no longer a foreign but a second language learnt in a naturalistic context iii the immersion classroom also known as an integrated content and language ICL setting in which learners are taught content subjects through the medium of the target language more often than not English used as the Lingua Franca ELF The volume examines how these contexts change language learners linguistic performance and also non linguistic that is it throws light on how motivation sense of identity interculturality international ethos and affective factors develop To our knowledge no publication exists which places the three contexts on focus in this monograph along a continuum as suggested in P rez Vidal 2011 2014 with SA as the most naturalistic context on one extreme ISLA on the other and ICL somewhere in between while framing them all as international classrooms Concerning target languages the nine chapters included in the volume analyze English and one chapter deals with Spanish as the target language As for target countries in SA programmes data include England Ireland France Germany and Spain in Europe but also Canada China and Australia While the main bulk of the chapters deal with tertiary level language learners a language learning population which has received less attention by research thus far one chapter deals with adolescent learners Carmen P rez Vidal Sonia L pez Jennifer Ament and Dakota Thomas Wilhelm all served on the organizing committee for the EUROSOLA workshop held at the Universitat Pompeu Fabra Barcelona in May 2016 It is from this workshop that this monograph was inspired

Study Abroad Contexts for Enhanced Foreign Language Learning Velliari, Donna M., 2018-04-13 Popular opinion has long assumed that learning a foreign language requires not only traditional classroom instruction but also immersion among native speakers of the language This opinion is so strongly held that students who study through immersion are believed to become more proficient than those who do not Study Abroad Contexts for Enhanced Foreign Language Learning is a critical scholarly publication that explores the importance and efficacy of international travel in the learning of a second or additional language Including various topics such as auditory orthographic training grammatical ability and learner autonomy this book is geared toward academicians students and professionals seeking current and relevant research on language acquisition through immersion and its value

Vestiges of monolingual bias are present in the portrayal of study abroad as an idealized monolingual immersion experience and the steps many programs take to encourage or enforce target language monolingualism In reality study abroad is often inherently multilingual This book addresses the need for a recognition of the multilingual realities of study abroad across a variety of traditional and non traditional national contexts and target languages The chapters examine multilingual socialization and translanguaging with peers local hosts and instructors how the target language is necessarily entwined in global local and historical contexts and how students negotiate the use of local and global varieties of English Together the chapters present a powerful argument for scholars and study abroad practitioners to consider and critically incorporate multilingual realities into their research and planning Study Abroad and the Second Language Acquisition of Sociolinguistic Variation in Spanish Sara L. Zahler, Avizia Y. Long, Bret Linford, 2023-06-06 This volume offers a comprehensive snapshot of the breadth of empirical research currently being conducted on the second language acquisition of sociolinguistic variation in Spanish during study abroad Research on this topic spans diverse methodological approaches types of programs linguistic structures and learner characteristics which is reflected in the contributions in this volume This diversity of approaches illustrates how the second language development of sociolinguistic variation during study abroad depends crucially on a number of linguistic and extralinguistic factors and can be measured in distinct ways Thus this collection will be an indispensable resource to researchers and students of second language acquisition sociolinguistics applied linguistics education and other fields interested in language development during study abroad Acquisition in Interlanguage Pragmatics Anne Barron, 2003 This study reports on an investigation designed to in some way meet the need for acquisition research in L2 pragmatics in particular in the form of longitudinal studies and also to meet the need for research into the acquisition of L2 pragmatic competence in German Specifically it concerns a longitudinal study in which the development of the L2 pragmatic competence of a group of 32 Irish learners of German is investigated over ten months spent studying in the target speech community Germany The study is anchored in the field of interlanguage pragmatics and the approach taken is speech act based interest focusing on productions of requests offers and refusals of offers The study also draws on research from discourse analysis in the investigation of offer refusal of offer exchanges The objective of this study was to record any developments whether towards or away from the L2 norm in the L2 pragmatic competence of the current group of learners over time spent in the target community
