Research in Chinese as a Second

Language Istvan Kecskes, 2013-05-28 The book aims to address one of the main problems of Chinese language teaching lack of research base The rapidly growing interest in Chinese language teaching has not resulted in the development of a strong research background This book attempts to change the current situation The volume consists of three chapters Chapter I Research Base for Practice contains three papers each of which uses research findings as a basis for solving issues connected with practical language teaching Chapter II Integrating Culture and Language is about one of the most intriguing topics of current language oriented research how to integrate culture into the process of language teaching Chapter III Acquisition of Language Structures consists of studies that investigate the acquisition of certain grammatical structures in Chinese There are only a few papers in the literature on this issue so the articles in this chapter are especially important for further research One of the most important features of the volume is that each paper makes an attempt to bring together theory and practice by focusing on theory building based on practice or theory application in practice Thus the book can be recommended to both researchers and practitioners

Metacognitive Approaches to Developing Oracy Roy Evans, Deborah Jones, 2013-09-13 The acquisition of speech and language represent significant achievements for all children These aspects of child development have received substantial attention in the research literature and a considerable body of theoretical knowledge exists to chart progress from infancy to maturity Cross cultural studies have identified the common purposes served by the acquisition of oral language by children and the essential similarity in the sequence through which speech develops irrespective of geography and culture What is less clear is precisely how children learn to say what they mean and how teachers and parents can support and enhance the development of meaningful speech in their children Until now children's speech has been underused as a means of promoting learning in the formal school setting New requirements within the National Curriculum are trying to address this gap but there remains a lack of clarity as to what this means for practice and how it relates to the broad base of curricular objectives This book brings together a body of work from different countries it offers an improved understanding of how strategies for developing speaking and listening may impact metacognitive awareness and raise standards of literacy and dialogic thinking for all children This book was previously published as a special issue of Early Child Development and Care
