

Glory Movie Questions

1. How does the attitude of Colonel Robert Gould Shaw toward African-Americans change and why?

Colonel Shaw's attitude toward African-Americans changes over the course of the movie. At first, he is a white supremacist and believes that African-Americans are inferior to white people. However, as he spends more time with the 54th Massachusetts Infantry, he begins to see them as individuals and not just as a race. This change in attitude is what allows him to lead the regiment with respect and dignity.

2. What differences exist among the black soldiers who make up the 54th Massachusetts Infantry? What does this tell you about the different experiences of blacks in 19th-century America? What about their regions of origin, former status (enslaved), and educational background?

The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was a regiment of African-American soldiers who fought in the American Civil War. The regiment was made up of men from different parts of the country, including the North and South. This diversity of background and experience is what makes the regiment so unique.

3. What attitudes did white soldiers have about the 54th? Did these attitudes change and why?

At first, the white soldiers in the 54th were very hostile to the African-American soldiers. They believed that they were inferior and that they should not be allowed to fight in the same regiment as white soldiers. However, as the white soldiers spent more time with the African-American soldiers, their attitudes began to change. They began to see them as individuals and not just as a race.

4. Were blacks treated equally to whites in the Union army? Explain.

No, blacks were not treated equally to whites in the Union army. They were paid less than white soldiers and were often given the most dangerous and difficult jobs. However, they were also given the same respect and dignity as white soldiers.

5. What is significant about Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender?

Colonel Shaw's decision to refuse to surrender is significant because it shows that he was willing to die for his country and his men. This decision also shows that he was willing to stand up to the white supremacists who were trying to keep the African-American soldiers from fighting in the same regiment as white soldiers.

6. Did that incident end as you expected? What feelings or thoughts come over you last night?

The incident ended as I expected. The 54th Massachusetts Infantry was killed in action. However, their sacrifice was not in vain. They were the first African-American regiment to be recognized as equal to the white regiments. Their story is a powerful reminder of the struggle for equality in America.
