Maguire's work over the past three decades highlights how process sociology has a unique perspective on the relationship between sport culture and society and to the body, globalisation and civilisational analysis. Reflecting on this body of work and the use of process sociology, Maguire captures the research dynamic of walking the line between involvement and detachment, theory and observation and engagement and critique. The book is structured around four broad sections: Theory, Sport and Society, The Meaning of Sport, Body and Society, Case Studies in Sport and Process Sociology, Globalisation, Sport and Civilisational Analysis. Providing an introduction to and key examples of a process sociology approach to the study of sport, the body, civilising processes and globalisation, this book will appeal to undergraduates, postgraduates and researchers in sport studies, sports science, degrees, sociology, cultural studies and to those studying migration, globalisation and cross cultural civilisation relations.
