About the Cover

L-DOPA (3,4-dihydroxy-L-phenylalanine, (S)-2-amino-3-(4,5-dihydroxyphenyl)propanoic acid) is shown in its protonated form found at low pH. L-DOPA is an intermediate in the biosynthesis of dopamine, an important molecule for proper neuron and brain function. It is a chiral molecule because it contains a chiral carbon (shown in green). Because L-DOPA is chiral, there is a corresponding enantiomer called D-DOPA (shown as the reflection in the mirror), which has the same connectivity of atoms but different "handedness" about the chiral atom. Analogous to your left and right hands, L-DOPA and D-DOPA are nonsuperposable mirror images of each other. Chirality is a key concept in organic chemistry, especially when considering biological activity. Because many chiral molecules have very different medicinal properties compared to their mirror image versions, for example, L-DOPA is used clinically in the treatment of Parkinson's disease, while D-DOPA is not active.
