Grinling Gibbons And The Art Of Carving:

Grinling Gibbons and the Art of Carving David Esterly, 1998 Published to coincide with the first ever exhibition of the work of Grinling Gibbons this study looks at Gibbons work from the perspective of a fellow wood carver The Lost Carving David Esterly, 2012-12-27 A beautiful intricate meditation on creativity and discovery on fire and rebirth Elizabeth Gilbert Awestruck at the sight of a Grinling Gibbons carving in a London church David Esterly chose to dedicate his life to woodcarving its physical rhythms intricate beauty and intellectual demands Forty years later he is the foremost practitioner of Gibbons s forgotten technique which revolutionized ornamental sculpture in the late 1600s with its spectacular cascades of flowers fruits and foliage After a disastrous fire at Henry VIII s Hampton Court Palace Esterly was asked to replace the Gibbons masterpiece destroyed by the flames It turned out to be the most challenging year in Esterly s life forcing him to question his abilities and delve deeply into what it means to make a thing well Written with a philosopher s intellect and a poet s grace The Lost Carving explores the connection between creativity and physical work and illuminates the passionate pursuit of a vocation that unites head and hand and heart Grinling Gibbons and the Art of Carving ,1998

Grinling Gibbons and the Golden Age of Woodcarving Ada De Wit, 2021-05-19 Grinling Gibbons the most celebrated woodcarver of all times developed an extraordinary style of realistic foliage carving in limewood. He was a man of his time born in Rotterdam to English parents trained in the Netherlands and as many artists and craftsmen of his generation moved to England where he embarked on a spectacular career working on some of England's most iconic buildings. This book the result of extensive new research puts Gibbons in the Anglo Dutch context of the second half of the seventeenth century shedding new light on his origin and that of his style and the work of his contemporaries in the Netherlands and Britain. The book emphasises the importance of Rotterdam and The Hague in Anglo Dutch relationships and as leading centres for woodcarving. It also elevates the role of wood carved decoration ubiquitous in the period and intended to reflect the social standing and ambitions of those who commissioned it whether it was applied in their apartments on war ships carriages or in churches. Last but not least this book contributes to studies of migrant artisans and exchanges between Britain and the Netherlands the subjects as relevant in the seventeenth century as today.

"The British School of Sculpture, c.1760-1832" Sarah Burnage, 2017-07-05 The British School of Sculpture c 1760 1832 represents the first edited collection exploring one of the most significant moments in British art history returning to centre stage a wide range of sculpture considered for the first time by some of the most important scholars in the field. Following a historical and historiographical introduction by the editors situating British sculpture in relation to key events and developments in the period and the broader scholarship on British art more generally in the period and beyond the book contains nine wide ranging case studies that consider the place of antique and modern sculpture in British country houses in the period monuments to heroes of commerce and the Napoleonic Wars the key debates fought around ideal sculpture at the Royal Academy the reception of British sculpture across Europe the reception of Hindu sculpture deriving from India in Britain and the relationship of sculpture to emerging industrial markets both at home and abroad. Challenging characterisations of the period as neoclassical the volume reveals British sculpture to be a much more eclectic and various field of endeavour both in service of the state and challenging it and open to sources ranging from the newly arrived Parthenon Frieze to contemporary print culture.

Grinling Gibbons & the English Woodcarving Tradition Frederick Oughton, 1979

Enriching Architecture Christine Casey, Melanie Hayes, 2023-01-26 Refinement and enrichment of surfaces in stone wood and plaster is a fundamental aspect of early modern architecture which has been marginalised by architectural history. Enriching Architecture aims to retrieve and rehabilitate surface achievement as a vital element of early modern buildings in Britain and Ireland Rejected by modernism demeaned by the conceptual turn and too often reduced to its representative or social functions we argue for the historical legitimacy of creative craft skill as a primary agent in architectural production However in contrast to the connoisseurial and developmental perspectives of the past this book is concerned with how surfaces were designed achieved and experienced The contributors draw upon the major rethinking of craft and materials within the wider cultural sphere in recent years to deconstruct traditional oppositional ways of thinking about architectural production This is not a craft for craft s sake argument but an effort to embed the tangible findings of conservation and curatorial research within an evidence led architectural history that illuminates the processes of early modern craftsmanship The book explores broad themes of surface treatment such as wainscot rustication plasterwork and staircase embellishment together with chapters focused on virtuoso buildings and set pieces which illuminate these themes English Mechanic and Mirror of Science and Art ,1868
