Group Dynamics Uwe Bußmann,Silvia Schweighofer,2011-08-08 Inhaltsangabe Abstract A group consists of some people who

interact during a certain time The number of group members is that small that there is the possibility for every member to interact with every other group member face to face If people meet by accident who are not close friends it will be not a group If you want to learn more about the formation of groups you will find two leading models which display the phases of group formation On the one hand there is the Bernstein and Lowy model on the other hand Bruce Tuckman also designed a phase model which shows the formation of groups Roles in groups can be positive and negative They are supporting the group as collectivity and are not only the result of individual need abilities and characteristics There are different ways for the classification of groups Groups can be classified in general according to following characteristics size topic task of the group Also a way for classifying groups is the classification according the Riemann Thomann Cross The next chapters this assignment shows a rough overview of the various possibilities for the classification of groups As there are many influencing facts for the effectiveness of groups and very contradictory interests the advantages for one group of interest are the disadvantages for the other group of interest The economical group of interest measures the effectiveness of a group by its productivity flexibility and quality The individual in a group identifies effectiveness in the group by reasonable tasks feeling of togetherness in the group and diverse interpersonal relationships At workplaces with friends together or even with complete strangers informal groups emerge nearly everywhere in real life The aims of informal groups are usually but not always different from those of formal groups The development within the group is apart from small differences not much different from formal groups The process of forming storming norming performing and eventually adjourning as Professor Tuckman has described is nearly the same One crucial point is that informal groups are NOT part of a formal organisation and members in most of these cases are free to leave whenever they want Therefore it is unusual to undergo e.g. a destructive storming Before it comes to such a storming often one or more members will leave the group in advance Leadership is especially in informal groups a difficult topic But

Arend,2023-07-03 For teachers in higher education who haven t been able to catch up with developments in teaching and learning James Davis and Bridget Arend offer an introduction that focuses on seven coherent and proven evidence based strategies The underlying rationale is to provide a framework to match teaching goals to distinct ways of learning based on well established theories of learning The authors present approaches that readers can readily and safely experiment with to achieve desired learning outcomes and build confidence in changing their methods of teaching Research on learning clearly demonstrates that learning is not one thing but many The learning associated with developing a skill is different from the learning associated with understanding and remembering information which in turn is different from thinking critically and creatively solving problems making decisions or change paradigms in the light of evidence Differing outcomes involve different ways of learning and teaching strategies The authors provide the reader with a conceptual approach for selecting appropriate teaching strategies for different types of content and for achieving specific learning objectives They demonstrate through examples how a focused and purposeful selection of activities improves student performance and in the process makes for a more effective and satisfying teaching experience The core of the book presents a chapter on each of the seven ways of learning Each chapter offers a full description of the process illustrates its application with examples from different academic fields and types of institutions clearly describes the teacher s facilitation role and covers assessment and online use The seven ways of learning are Behavioral Learning Cognitive Learning Learning through Inquiry Learning with Mental Models Learning through Groups and Teams Learning through Virtual Realities and
