Dance, Dance, Dance

Grade Levels: K-2

Subjects: Math, Language Arts, Art

Learner Outcomes: The students will add whole numbers from 0-10 using manipulatives, pictures, and mental math.

Duration of Lesson: 45 minutes

Materials: CD or cassette player, Song One Elephant by Sharon, Lois, and Brahm

Technology Tools/Courseware: Computer, Scan Converter or LCD Display, Internet access

Teacher Notes: It is a good idea to make sure all students have an internet permission form on file. Although the children are not accessing the internet directly in this initial introduction, they will be doing so in the following sessions.

Procedures:

- Utilize the web site Sign of Plus and display to the entire group using the scan converter or LCD. Help children understand what the words of the song mean. Get them excited! Energized! Allow them to dance in place as you replay the song.
- Demonstrate the addition process using the children. Have 1 child come forward. Point out that there is ONLY 1 child there. Have another child come forward and call to their attention that adding one more child to one child equals two children. Continue to add one more until you have five children.
- Call to their attention the classification system used. For example you used only boys. Do the activity again and use only girls. Do the activity for a third time and use a mixture.

 Nicole Schonemann, Emily Metzgar, Andrew Libby, 2015-05-01 Service learning is entering a post initiatory phase At tertiary institutions of all types and sizes service learning programs are common and service learning requirements for graduation are growing in popularity Taken together alongside continued faculty interest in effective teaching these factors have raised the visibility and popularity of service learning Now the greater need in service learning is not to prove the need for or efficacy of service learning but to turn the focus squarely back on practice Following established best practice is not enough instructors also need to reflect on how this fits within the specific context and application of each unique course and service learning partnership While there are many excellent resources that detail best practice and showcase exemplary service learning courses faculty reflection and course revision often goes unmentioned In response to the lack of attention on the role of reflection and course revision we convened groups of faculty from a variety of disciplines to reflect deeply on their courses paying specific attention to obstacles and challenges These conversations were converted to articles for this edited collection each chapter representing the process of reflection and revision and serving as a guide to develop effective practice in varied curricular contexts This text contributes to the body of literature on service learning in a unique and practical manner Faculty teaching or interested in teaching service learning classes would benefit from this text as well as university administrators and community service directors involved in service learning at a programmatic and institutional level This book should be marketed to faculty teaching disciplinary service learning classes and service learning pedagogy classes and administrative offices involved in service learning This could be a supplementary text for graduate level pedagogy courses Higher education institutional libraries would benefit from this text as well as the national and state campus compact offices
