Montgomery, 2003-10-08 A natural history of the rise and fall of salmon in England New England and the Pacific Northwest cites the roles of the regions changing landscapes and experimentation in the evolution and near extinction of the species making predictions about recovery efforts and the prospects of the natural world 40 000 first printing

David S. Wilcove, 2007-11 Animal migration is a magnificent sight a mile long blanket of cranes rising from a Nebraska river and filling the sky hundreds of thousands of wildebeests marching across the Serengeti a blaze of orange as millions of monarch butterflies spread their wings to take flight Nature s great migrations have captivated countless spectators none more so than premier ecologist David S Wilcove In No Way Home his awe is palpable as are the growing threats to migratory animals We may be witnessing a dying phenomenon among many species Migration has always been arduous but today s travelers face unprecedented dangers Skyscrapers and cell towers lure birds and bats to untimely deaths fences and farms block herds of antelope salmon are caught en route between ocean and river breeding and wintering grounds are paved over or plowed and global warming disrupts the synchronized schedules of predators and prey The result is a dramatic decline in the number of migrants Wilcove guides us on their treacherous journeys describing the barriers to migration and exploring what compels animals to keep on trekking He also brings to life the adventures of scientists who study migrants Often as bold as their subjects researchers speed wildly along deserted roads to track birds soaring overhead explore glaciers in search of frozen locusts and outfit dragonflies with transmitters weighing less than one one hundredth of an ounce Scientific discoveries and advanced technologies are helping us to understand migrations better but alone they won t stop sea turtles and songbirds from going the way of the bison or passenger pigeon What s required is the commitment and cooperation of the far flung countries migrants cross long before extinction is a threat As Wilcove writes protecting the abundance of migration is key to protecting the glory of migration No Way Home offers powerful inspiration to preserve those glorious journeys

The Living Shore Rowan Jacobsen, 2009-07-01 In the 1990s a marine scientist named Brian Kingzett was commissioned to survey Canada s western coast He saw amazing sights from the wildest most breathtaking coasts to the smallest of marine creatures Along the western side of Vancouver Island Kingzett nosed into an isolated pocket beach where he found something unusual Amid the mussels barnacles and clams were round oysters Olympias Kingzett noted their presence and paddled on A decade later when he met Betsy Peabody executive director of the Puget Sound Restoration Fund PSRF he learned that this once ubiquitous native oyster was in steep decline and he knew that together they would return to this remote spot Rowan Jacobsen along with Kingzett Peabody and a small group of scientists from PSRF and the Nature Conservancy set out last July to see if the Olys were still surviving and if they were what they could learn from them The goal to use their pristine natural beds which have probably been around for millennia as blueprints for the habitat restoration efforts in Puget Sound The implications are vast If Peabody and her team can bring good health back to Puget Sound by restoring the intertidal zones the areas of land exposed during low tide and submerged during high tide where oysters live their research could serve as a model for saving the world's oceans During a time when the fate of the oceans seems uncertain Rowan Jacobsen has found hope in the form of a small shelled creature living in the lost world where all life began

Mills, 2020-10-15 This volume explores the effects of aquatic contaminants on ecological subsidies and food web exposure at the boundary of aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems It provides the first synthesis of the findings and principles governing the dark side of contaminant effects on ecological subsidies Furthermore the volume provides extensive coverage of the tools being developed to help managers and researchers better understand the implications of contaminants movement and their effects on natural resources and ecosystem processes Aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems are linked through movements of energy and nutrients which subsidize recipient food webs As a result contaminants that concentrate in aquatic systems because of the effects of gravity on water and organic matter have the potential to impact both aquatic and terrestrial ecosystem processes Within the last decade increased attention has been paid to this phenomenon particularly the effects of aquatic contaminants on resource and contaminant export to terrestrial consumers and the potential implications for management This volume curated and edited by three field leaders incorporates empirical results management applications and theoretical synthesis and is a key reference for academics government researchers and consultants

The Genius of the Beast Howard Bloom, 2010-05-01 Is global capitalism on its last legs Is the era of American leadership over Has the West begun a decline into a new Dark Age Does American civilization deserve to survive These are the unnerving questions raised by the Great Crash of 2009 This book presents a radically new answer insisting that global society has only begun to realize its full potential Author Howard Bloom argues that there s a hidden mandate beneath the surface of capitalism It s struggling to whisper and rumble its message to you and me That hidden imperative can lift us from economic crisis can make us a leader in the next generation economy and can dramatically upgrade our ability to empower our fellow human beings Bloom sees crisis as opportunity opportunity for the whole human race In more than eighty short fast chapters insights appear suddenly like the quick bursts of flashbulbs taking the reader on a sweeping tour of human history from the Stone Age to the present Every chapter conveys a radically new way to see the astonishing mechanism we call Western Civilization Bloom marvels at how humans have turned toxic waste into food and fuel trash into treasure and garbage into gold He shows how we ve produced material miracles based on immaterial things passion persistence and fantasy He shows that what many regard as the end is just the beginning The beginning of something you ve never before imagined The author explains why the secret to capitalism s next great leap does not lie in new financial tricks but in tapping things right under our noses in radically new ways that is tapping our imagination our desire to feel useful our desire to help others and our desire to be recognized for contributing to the welfare of humanity The key to next generation capitalism lies in a big picture view that s utterly unlike anything you ve previously perceived A big picture view that will startle you A big picture view with which you can ignite the world get a new handle on your life and help transform society This brilliant inspirational work of daring ideas and breathtaking research offers more than hope It offers unseen levels of understanding Understanding that can literally redefine what it means to be a human being

Bottomfeeder Taras Grescoe, 2011-01-15 Dividing his sensibilities between Epicureanism and ethics Taras Grescoe set out on a nine month world wide search for a delicious and humane plate of seafood Along the way he explains the cultural and commercial implications of fish production on our environment our health and our seas At once entertaining and illuminating Bottomfeeder is a thoroughly enjoyable narrative about the world's cuisines and an examination of the fishing and farming practices we take too easily for granted The West without Water B. Lynn Ingram, Frances Malamud-Roam, 2013-08-01 The West without Water documents the tumultuous climate of the American West over twenty millennia with tales of past droughts and deluges and predictions about the impacts of future climate change on water resources Looking at the region's current water crisis from the perspective of its climate history the authors ask the central question of what is normal climate for the West and whether the relatively benign climate of the past century will continue into the future The West without Water merges climate and paleoclimate research from a wide variety of sources as it introduces readers to key discoveries in cracking the secrets of the region's climatic past It demonstrates that extended droughts and catastrophic floods have plagued the West with regularity over the past two millennia and recounts the most disastrous flood in the history of California and the West which occurred in 1861-62 The authors show that while the West may have temporarily buffered itself from such harsh climatic swings by creating artificial environments and human landscapes our modern civilization may be ill prepared for the future climate changes that are predicted to beset the region They warn that it is time to face the realities of the past and prepare for a future in which fresh water may be less reliable Romanticism, Rhetoric and the Search for the Sublime, 2nd Edition Craig R.

Smith, 2023-01-23 Relying on the author's established expertise in rhetoric and political communication this book re-contextualizes Romantic rhetorical theory from the late 18th and early 19th centuries to provide a foundation for a Neo Romantic rhetorical theory for our own time In the process it uses a unique methodology to correct misconceptions about the rhetorical theories of many writers Using a dialectical approach the early chapters trace Romanticism through its opposition to the industrial revolution and the Enlightenment back through Humanism and its opposition to Scholasticism to its roots in St Augustine's writing These chapters include a revisionist analysis of the church's treatment of Galileo in the course of showing how difficult it was for scientific study to be accepted in Scholastic circles The study goes on to argue that Jean Jacques Rousseau David Hume and Edmund Burke were bridge figures to the Romantic Era This move throws new light on exemplary painters composers writers and orators of the Romantic Era who are examined in chapters eight and nine Chapter ten focuses on Percy Bysshe Shelley and his development of the rhetorical poem and thereby provides a new genre in the Romantic catalogue Chapter Eleven turns to the Romantic rhetorical theories of Hugh Blair and Thomas De Quincey to empower those seeking to save the environment The concluding chapter then synthesizes their theories with relevant contemporary rhetorical theories thereby constructing a Neo Romantic theory for our own time In the process the book links the Romantics' love of nature to the current environmental crisis Onearth, 2001 The Boatman Robert M.

Thorson, 2017-04-24 Robert Thorson gives readers a Thoreau for the Anthropocene The boatman and backyard naturalist was keenly aware of the way humans had altered the waterways and meadows of his beloved Concord River Valley Yet he sought
